Nasser Unveils His Women's Army

Some of the first women to respond to the call of Egyptian President Gamal A. Nasser for volunteers for his "army of liberation" to defend the Suez canal are issued uniforms which they will wear instead of the black robes. The women will discard the traditional Moslem veil. The rifles are British. —(CPC)

Delegates Roar Approval

Fervor for Eisenhower-Nixon Dooms Stassen's 'Dumping' Bid

Democrats Called 'Hungry for Power'

(From UP and AP Dispatches)

CONVENTION HALL, San Francisco—The Republicans got their national convention rolling last night with thunderous cheers for an Eisenhower-Nixon ticket and a biting attack on the "power hungry" Democrats.

The happy, confident delegates just about demolished Harold E. Stassen's dump-Nixon drive. They shook the rafters with cheers at each mention of vice-president Richard Nixon. Stassen's name was ignored.

With that controversy settled and a mild civil rights row out of the way, the Republicans took aim on the Democrats. The big blow was fired by Washington Gov. Arthur B. Langlie, the convention keynoter.

LEADERS CHEERED

Before that, GOP national chairman Leonard W. Hall had the crowd roaring at his references to President Eisenhower and Nixon. A great cheer went up when he pointed to their portraits and called Nixon a "great Californian' and Mr. Eisenhower "the greatest president of our times."

Washington Gov. Arthur Langlie in his keynote speech criticized no Democrats by name. But he said the Democratic keynote speech was "a naked admission" that they believe "loyalty to a political party comes ahead of devotion to our beloved country."

The governor invited the voters to compare the Eisenhower-Nixon record with "20 demoralizing years" under the Democrats.

PEACE THEME

Later, Sen. William F. Knowland of California credited the Republicans with achieving peace based on "principle" and prosperity and even-handed dealing at home.

Knowland took occasion, too, to speak highly of State Secretary Dulles, with whose specific inter-national moves the senator has often been in sharp disagreement.

He said he deeply regrets that at Chicago "there were those who, for partisan advantage and the momentary manifestations of approval of an emotionally aroused convention hall, sought to belittle the person and the actions of a great secretary of state on the very eve of his departure for an international conference that could determine the issue of peace or war."

He said that in the 48 years he has lived there has been peace under the five Republican presidents and war under the three Democrats.

"Whether this was pure coincidence, or vacillating policy that led to war," he said, "the American people recognize that Democrat orators are skating recklessly and irresponsibly indeed."

Jockey Back In Jail

VANCOUVER (CP) — Calvin Roy Eustace, released Monday from a five-year extortion sentence by a Supreme Court order, was rearrested as he stepped through the gates of Oakalla prison farm.

He was back in Vancouver city jail one hour after his release facing a reworded charge of extortion.

The 28-year-old jockey had been convicted and sentenced for an alleged extortion attempt against Vancouver businessman Jack Diamond.

The conviction was quashed by Mr. Justice Harry Sullivan, who backed up the jockey's appeal that the warrant committing him to prison failed to state that the accused intended to cause death or injury to Mr. Diamond when he attempted to extort $20,000.

Marilyn Keeps It Dark

Marilyn Bell may slip into Juan de Fuca strait under the cover of darkness late this week for her second attempt to swim from Victoria to Port Angeles.

Speculation is that her attempt probably will go unannounced.

Strait experts pointed out last night that deviation between high and low tides during the weekend will be at a minimum.

Negroes Regret Failure

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Republican platform drafters called Monday, in a proposed civil rights plank, for elimination of racial segregation in public school with "all deliberate speed."

They said this should be done "locally through federal courts."

The tentative plank — approved by a 105-member platform committee—said the Republican party concurs in the Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in the schools and in the court's direction that this end should be accomplished with "all deliberate speed."

It added, however, that "true progress" in eliminating segregation "can be attained through intelligent study, understanding and goodwill."

Two leaders in the demand for a "strong" civil rights declaration said the Republican plank, on balance, appeared to be a "thin shade stronger" than the Democratic plank.

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and Joseph L. Rauh, national chairman of the Americans for Democratic action, added in a statement:

"We regret the failure to pledge an effort to eliminate the (Senate) filibuster rule which has blocked all federal civil rights legislation."

The Republican plank, which was threshed out at closed sessions marked by appeals for "soft" language, was accepted by most southern delegates as one they said they could "live with."

Labor 'Nixes' Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO will decide next week what position to take in this year's United States presidential election. One union official predicted the big labor organization will either endorse the Democratic ticket or take a neutral stance.

The decision will be made by the AFL-CIO executive council, meeting in sessions starting Aug. 27 at Forest Park, Pa. It is the first time since the two unions merged last December that such a major political move will be considered.

50-50 CHANCE

As of Monday, an AFL-CIO official reported, "It looks as though there is a 50-50 chance it will be Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver. If not, then we probably won't support anybody at all on the national ticket."

The informant, who asked that he not be named, said he thought there is little chance the labor group would support the Republican presidential candidate, "especially if Vice-President Nixon is on the ticket."

Suez Canal Conference

Accept Joint Control West Advises Nasser

LONDON (AP) — The United States and India, reflecting the views of West and East, called on Egypt Monady night to accept some form of foreign participation in the future operation of the Suez canal.

They submitted rival plans to the 22-power Suez conference here which differed in many respects but had this idea in common:

Egypt should give up her stand for unfettered control of the waterway linking Europe, Asia and Africa.

There was one vital difference between the two.

The United States—mainly with European backing—asked for an international board to operate the canal. Egypt, although a member, would have to bow to its rulings.

India — with mainly Eastern backing—sought a two-tier system of control, Egypt would run the canal, but take advice from an international group representing user-interests on such matters as financing and development.

INDIAN PLAN

V. K. Krishna Menon, top foreign policy adviser to Prime Minister Nehru, presented the Indian plan. Then State Secretary Dulles put forward that of the West.

The conference, now in its crucial stage, is expected to express its opinion on the two schemes on Tuesday.

Presentation of the U.S. and Indian proposals climaxed 48 hours on the most intensive diplomatic manoeuvring seen in this capital in years.

Only an hour or two earlier other nations, pursuing interests of their own, came up with formulas that reduced the prospects of unanimous agreement.

BOTH OPINIONS

If there is no conference unanimity, President Nasser of Egypt will be given this week both the majority and dissenting opinions which, the West hopes, will form the basis of negotiations for a settlement.

Meantime three of Britain's partners in the Baghdad Pact—Turkey, Iran and Pakistan—passed the word they like neither the U.S. nor the Indian proposals as they stand.

FARLEY WITH REDS

Dulles conferred for 35 minutes this morning with Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov and later attended a session of the Big Three Western Foreign Ministers. The session was held to consider amendments proposed since the Dulles draft was circulated.

Dulles' original draft suggested "an international board" for operating maintaining and developing the waterway. In the amended plan, Dulles proposed that "operating, maintaining and developing the canal . . . would be the responsibility of a Suez Canal board."

EGYPT A MEMBER

Egypt would be a member of the board, along with other states in the 1888 convention on freedom of navigation through the canal.

India was the last of the 22 countries to speak at the conference. Menon said that failure to solve the Suez dispute peacefully "would have consequences which go far beyond Egypt and other countries concerned. . . ."

Suez Runs Dry!

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—The Suez canal conference—dealing with 103 miles of salt water flowing through a desert—is the driest international conference in many years.

"The delegates," said David R. Owen of the London catering firm handling the bar, "are drinking practically nothing alcoholic. But we're dishing out great lashings of tea and fruit juice."

Members of a number of delegations at Lancaster House agreed little alcohol is being consumed, but they differed sharply on the reasons.

VAIN SEARCH

"I've looked all over the place for a whisky," said a thirsty American, "and I just haven't been able to find it. I decided it must be a dry conference in deference to the Moslems attending."

Alcohol is prohibited to orthodox Moslems and there are Moslems in at least three of the 22 delegations.

"There's plenty to drink," said Sir George Young, spokesman for the British delegation, "but no gentleman would think of drinking spirits at 4:45 in the afternoon."

The conference has an intermission at 4:45 every afternoon. The following 30 minutes is the period during which the delegates may refresh themselves.

"This is a strange conference," said the caterer, "The drinks are free to the delegates, yet they aren't drinking them. Now down at the press house we charge for them and the business is what we're pleased to call extremely brisk."

Socred Resigns

C. WHITWORTH STANBURY

Vice-president and secretary-treasurer of B.C. Social Credit League, C. Whitworth Stanbury resigned here yesterday. He gave ill health as his reason, adding that he was advised three weeks ago by his physician to reduce his activities. Last Friday, Mr. Stanbury was defeated by John Tisdalle, present MLA, in a bid for Saanich Social Credit nomination.

Blocked Suez Envisioned

LONDON (AP)—A Suez pilot, on leave in England, predicts that traffic through the Suez canal would be blocked in a short time if Egypt retains control of the waterway.

Capt. Richard Ruddock said most foreign pilots will refuse to work for the Egyptians, because of bureaucratic red tape.

Mayors Demand Better Tax Deal

HAMILTON (CP) — Canadian mayors, only temporarily dismayed by discovery of a dissenter in their ranks, called Monday for a better revenue deal from provincial and federal governments.

The 400 delegates to the annual convention of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities heard repeated predictions of soaring municipal costs. They were told that only a more equitable distribution of the tax burden among the three levels of government could enable the municipalities to continue paying their way.

But Mayor Gaston Hardy of Shawinigan Falls, Que.—the dissenter — said local taxpayers aren't paying enough for the services they get.

"We prefer to keep low, low taxes and blame the other governments," he said.

His statement, to a gathering convinced that municipal taxes are getting out of hand, drew no support from other speakers.

Optimism Prevails On Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—The mood of growing optimism for a peaceful solution to the Cyprus question continued Monday night, helped by the latest move of the EOKA terrorist organization to dissociate itself from a gun battle with British security forces Saturday night.

Pamphlets signed by the EOKA leader, Dighenis, were scattered in the streets of Limassol Monday night declaring: "My men are obeying orders for the truce." The pamphlets said EOKA men had nothing to do with the incident.

A similar distribution of pamphlets last Thursday first called for a truce in the 15 months of terrorist violence.

Raftsman Tells of Hunger, Thirst

PENZANCE, Eng. (CP) — A bearded Frenchman said Monday night he and two friends drank rainwater for 30 days and tried desperately to spear fish after their supplies ran out during a cross-Atlantic trip on a raft made of planks and rope.

Twenty - nine - year - old Henri Beaudot was brought ashore by a lifeboat from the raft l'Egare II Monday after 87 days of drifting through violent Atlantic storms after leaving Canada.

Beaudot came ashore to arrange for towing of the raft into Falmouth, on England's south coast. Two lifeboats took it in tow shortly before midnight.

His two companions, Gaston Vanackere, 31, and Marc Modena, a 27 - year - old artist, remained aboard the raft some 12 miles off Lizard Point at the westernmost tip of England.

L'Egare (the Lost One) set out May 24 from Halifax with four men aboard. One of them, Jose Martinez, was taken off by a Canadian ship after a month became of constant sickness.

Beaudot told reporters here that the raft bucked vicious gales during the trip. During a storm about eight days ago, he said the raft was surrounded by waves from 30 to 35 feet high.

During the 30 days after their food ran out, they had only one potato, one slice of bacon and one meat patty among them.

Beaudot said the men had not been able to shave for the last 30 days.

"Water was too precious," he said. "It was better to go down the throat than on the face."

The men spent the time playing checkers and standing guard. During recent days, a prevailing wind had prevented any progress, and they did not know their position until a Dutch ship told them they were near England.

All three men are French nationals whose homes are in Montreal.

When the voyage began, the men had enough food and water for more than a month at sea. At one time during the trip, the crew of a ship which had come alongside gave them food.

The progress of l'Egare was closely charted by planes and ships during the trip across the Atlantic, and its crew, using a sail to push them along, had reported "everything well on board," several times.

The original l'Egare was wrecked on the Newfoundland coast in a first attempt to cross the Atlantic last year.

The three adventurers faced possible immigration problems. Beaudot released with a glass of whisky and afterwards was taken to a hotel to sleep, but police kept him under surveillance.

"As far as we are concerned Beaudot is not a Canadian," a police official said. "He is a Frenchman and must be cleared by immigration."

Mrs. F. G. Chapman, wife of the secretary of the Lizard lifeboat, said Beaudot appeared to be suffering from lack of food when he was landed from the boat.

"The poor man was unable to eat or drink very much, but he appeared to be in good physical condition otherwise," said Mrs. Chapman. "We gave him some whisky, but he couldn't finish it. We thought he needed something stronger than tea."

She said Beaudot was in good spirits and laughed and waved to a group of people who flocked to the lifeboat station to see him landed.

She said the men on the raft also appeared in need of provisions. A lifeboat took out a supply of food.

Mrs. Chapman said the men hoped to get a tow to Falmouth since wind and currents were against the raft reaching shore on its own overnight.

The raft was spotted by the Dutch steamer Blydendyk early in the day and the vessel stood by the raft until the lifeboat came. Royal Air Force helicopters and an airplane also stood by.

L'Egare, a 30-foot-square platform of cedar planks lashed together with hemp, was equipped with a small shelter made of canvas and a tiny radio with which the crew kept contact with ships and shore stations.

Why did they want to do it? Just to prove it could be done.

Control Vital In Greenhouse

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Quite a few of my gardening friends have invested in a small greenhouse during the past few years, and it is most gratifying to see how much fun and relaxation they get out of these inexpensive structures. It is rather surprising, however to see how many of these smaller glasshouses have inadequate provisions for ventilation.

Actually, a small greenhouse needs more ventilators per foot than a big one, for the small body of air within it heats up so readily. Yet the reverse is true, and it is quite common to see a 12-foot greenhouse with only one small two-foot top ventilator.

TOP VENTILATION

In any 12-foot length of commercial greenhouse there would be at least 12 feet of top ventilators, and in some, there would be 24 feet — 12 feet on each side of the ridge.

I don't blame the manufacturer or designer for this fault. Ventilators cost money, and as long as we demand a hobby greenhouse at the lowest possible price, this is one of the trimmings which must be left off to keep the price down.

This is poor economy in the long run because, with inadequate ventilation, the gardener is bound to lose a lot of plants. At this time of the year, almost every mail brings me a batch of scorched leaves for diagnosis. Usually, the senders imagine their plants are suffering from some blight, but the fact is, their plants have been roasted!

Of course, the blame for these poor, baked plants can't always be placed entirely on insufficient ventilation, although this is usually the major contributing cause. Lack of shading, insufficient water, and too dry an atmosphere are other errors which are all to common and produce much the same result.

Soil texture has a considerable bearing on the frequency of watering. When the hobby greenhouse gardener has to be at work all day, and cannot give his plants an unremitting attention, it is necessary to use a lot more spongy compost and peat moss in the pots. In some small greenhouses, I have seen potting soils so gritty and lacking in humus, it would be difficult to keep them moist for half a day.

BIGGEST BUGBEAR

Atmospheric moisture is the biggest bugbear of the small greenhouse owner. The professional, on the job all day, secures his humidity by damping down the paths and between the pots, and in hot spells, he may do this two or three times a day. The man away at work all day can't do this. Moreover, he often makes his task of maintaining humidity all the harder by putting down a concrete floor in his greenhouse. This holds no moisture at all.

A dirt or gravel floor, or a floor of well-packed ashes or cinders, is much better. Such a floor, wetted down thoroughly in the morning, will maintain a steady even supply of moisture to the air all day.

$6,000 Mass Strait Swim Attracts Final Entry of 10

Final entry for the first annual cross-strait swim race Sunday was received by the swim committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce last night from Joan Elizabeth Biddle, 24, of Ladysmith.

Joan's experience in distance swimming is limited to a nine-mile "sprint" from Yellow Point lodge to Chemainus last year.

10 CONTENDERS

Her entry brought the list of contenders for the Victoria-Port Angeles race to 10 for the $6,000 in prize money.

Other eleventh-hour entries were received from Bill Muir of Saanich and Robert R. Masslow, 24, of Calgary.

Muir has tried 11 times to swim across Juan de Fuca without success; Masslow is untried in marathon swimming.

Deadline for entries was midnight Monday as announced in all application forms mailed by spons rs.

OTHER ASPIRANTS

Included in the starting line-up at the Horseshoe bay beach Sunday (weather permitting) will be Ben Laughren, 34, Victoria, third person to swim across the strait; Anna Burian, 43, Vancouver, who made two unsuccessful attempts here last year, and Janice White, 20, Toronto, with three unsuccessful attempts.

Also William Goll, 39, Landing, N.J., veteran CNE and Atlantic City competitor; John Lacoursiere, 20, Montreal, British Empire Games amateur who turned pro in 1955, finishing fifth in the Atlantic City classic; Anita Long, 17, 3222 Glasgow, veteran of four attempts, and Allan J. Small, 32, British-born Victoria resident with little experience of distance swimming.

Jaycees called on Greater Victoria residents for help in supplying the committee with sufficient power cruisers to cover the wide course.

Persons willing to volunteer their services and boats should call the Junior Chamber office at 3-4521.

Canada Seen As Importer

WINNIPEG (CP) — Sir Archibald Nye, retiring British high commissioner for Canada, predicted Monday that Canada will be forced soon to import to meet her own agricultural demand.

"The time is not far ahead that Canada will find she cannot supply herself with farm equipment and livestock and will have to import," he said in an interview. Wheat was the only product still in surplus.

at the 1955 Jamboree had a chance to see the great dams and smelters that make Canada a world supplier of aluminum.

But some did see a Canadian use of the light metal: outdoor cooking with aluminum foil. One Canadian troop showed how they used this handy material for doing potatoes, steaks and other foods over the campfire; how they kept food fresh in summer heat by protecting it with aluminum. If this missionary work carries the idea back to distant lands, Canada may have to turn out still more aluminum foil — even though last year her output, if laid in a 12-inch strip, would reach 382,000 miles.

Religion Unfettered By Reds Says Cleric

TORONTO (CP) — Rt. Rev. George Dorey, moderator of the United Church of Canada, said Monday he is convinced there is freedom of religion in Russia.

Just back from a two-week visit to Moscow and Leningrad, Dr. Dorey also said in an interview the ordinary Russian wants only peace.

"The average Russian — 200,000,000, of them — would never launch a war if he had the choice," said the moderator, who went to Russia as a guest of the Russian Orthodox Church, returning a visit which Russian churchmen paid to Canada last December.

"A man is free to go to church," said Dr. Dorey. "Some of the churches had really good congregations. I saw hundreds standing to worship at a Saturday night service in Russia."

"BACK-ACHE was Unbearable So I couldn't work"

Do you find that rheumatic pains are sometimes almost sheer torment? Do you long for relief as did Mme Denise Godin of 1240 Berri St., Montreal, P.Q.? Then read about Mrs. Godin's discovery: "I work at a machine, and not long ago suffered from backache so painful I could hardly walk. I tried several medicines, but nothing seemed to help. Then when the pain was unbearable I heard about Templeton's T-R-C's. I am delighted to say that my back-ache almost completely disappeared from the first capsules, and also the sharp pain between my shoulders. I can work without difficulty and am well satisfied with T-R-C's." You too may get the same satisfactory relief from your rheumatic pain. Take Templeton's T-R-C's — only 79c and $1.50 at drug counters. T-114

Which would you choose to do the job?

When you want to drive a 3 inch nail, you choose the claw hammer. It's the one designed for the job. The tack hammer couldn't handle it.

When you buy tires for your light truck, which do you choose — auto or truck tires?

You should choose truck tires. They're stronger, tougher, more rugged — designed for the job. They last longer — give you more value for your money.

Here's what you get in a Goodyear Hi-Miler Rib Truck Tire

1 6 ply rating — extra tough 3-T cord fabric for stronger carcasses, more retreads.
2 An extra cushion between the plies — lengthens carcass life.
3 Thicker, wider, flatter tread that stands up to the pounding of truck work.
4 Larger, stronger beads — bead failures almost unheard of.

You get all these advantages . . . and yet this truck tire costs only a few dollars more than a 6 ply auto tire. Ask your Goodyear dealer's advice the next time you need tires. He can save you money.

Religion Needed In B.C. Schools

Prelate Makes Plea To Premier Bennett

Appeal to Premier W. A. C. Bennett to provide adequate religious education in B.C. public schools was made by Archbishop H. E. Sexton during a sermon at Christ Church Cathedral Sunday.

"On behalf of a very large number of citizens," said the archbishop, "I would respectfully request the premier to examine the provisions for religious education in the other provinces, in order to give us the same privileges enjoyed by most Canadians."

Archbishop Sexton said he was prompted to discuss the topic because of a recent series of articles in The Daily Colonist in which almost half of two-dozen teen-agers said they believed in God but did not go to church.

He said he did not criticize unduly the attitude of the teen-agers, but "rather we are sorry that they are encouraged to express an opinion on what an Oxford professor has said, 'is the most important subject with which human intelligence can deal.' "

NOT SURPRISING

"It is not surprising that some of them at their present stage of development should adopt an anti-religious attitude," he said, "seeing that many of them have had no moral or spiritual training in their homes, and have attended schools where religious instruction is no part of the regular curriculum.

"Thus some of them feel that religion is not nearly so important as reading, writing or arithmetic," he said. "They really know very little about the subject."

The archbishop said there is "a very general recognition of the need of religious instruction in our schools," but emphasized he paid tribute to teachers and educational officials, "whose splendid Christian witness has been a source of blessing to innumerable students.

"Now there is a provincial election imminent," said the archbishop, "and the premier has, from time to time, told the electors that the achievements of the present government surpass those of any previous administration.

"Whether this a statement of fact or not is no concern of this pulpit," he said. "But there is one field in which the premier and his associates most certainly have the opportunity of rendering a priceless service to the children of Christian parents, and that is by making provision for adequate religious education in the public schools of this province.

"British Columbia lags behind every other Canadian province in this respect," he said. "I feel sure that I can speak for most of the Christian churches in inviting the premier to give his attention to this urgent matter, which previous governments have for the most part ignored."

INEXPEDIENT

Archbishop Sexton said these governments "have seemingly regarded it as politically inexpedient to accede to the repeated representations of the representative Christian bodies."

He pointed out that in other places, rights of atheists and rationalists are protected by a conscience clause, and said this could be done in B.C.

Gen. Ashton Last Rites Held Here

Funeral services were held Monday for Lieutenant-General Charles Ashton, CB, CMG, VD, MD, and CM. He died Friday, at 82.

Born in Brantford, Ont., Gen. Ashton had lived in Victoria for many years, was a former general officer commanding the area, and chief of Canadian militia.

He is survived by his widow, Helen, one daughter, Mrs. Amy Corsane Lloyd, England; one brother, Major A. Nelles Ashton, Grimsby Beach, Ont., and a cousin, Miss Blanche Ashton, Victoria.

Rev. Canon Frederick Pike officiated at the service in St. Luke's Anglican Church, Cedar Hill. Burial was at the churchyard cemetery.

Hail Hits Manitoba

BRANDON, Man. (CP)— Plows were moving out on fields of southwestern Manitoba Monday where less than a week ago swathers and combines were preparing to harvest one of the best grain crops in recent years.

Meanwhile teams of insurance adjusters were assessing the damage after one of the fiercest hail storms in many years. The storm is reported to have taken with it more than 1 per cent of the Manitoba crop acreage.

Campaign Pledges . . .

Hustings Echo to Platform Promises

. . . Socreds Unimpressed

Conservative and Liberal leaders last night hurled a political salvo toward the Social Credit camp with a statement of campaign aims.

But, said W. N. Chant, minister of works, "their bombshells went off with a little, ineffective pop."

"There's nothing dynamic in their approach to the election," he said. "It is entirely paign of criticism."

But the Social Credit minister, a candidate in Victoria, was not prepared to discuss the Liberal and Conservative policies except generally. "I haven't had time to study them. There is still government business to attend to."

Here are the 12 points of Arthur Laing's Liberal platform:

1. Reduction of the provincial sales tax from 5 to 4 per cent;
2. Creation of a department of youth affairs;
3. Appointment of an independent highway commission;
4. Protection of natural resources, forest, fish and power;
5. Naming of a permanent development board, like the federal Gordon commission;
6. Re-establishment of a board of industrial relations, with workmen's compensation extended to all fishermen, arbitration rights for civil servants, and reference of all labor matters to the house standing committee on these matters;
7. Assumption of responsibility
8. Direct action to meet disasters in agriculture;
9. Restoration of authority of municipal councils and school boards;
10. Revitalization of provincial Indian affairs advisory committee;
11. Adoption of conventional methods in explaining B.C.'s debt position;
12. Recognition of the democratic function of Opposition, "as criticism is the symbol of a free society."

Deane Finlayson, leader of the Conservatives, without a voice in the last legislature, offered this campaign plan, billed as a "program for prosperity":

The facts about public debt, the operation of the PGE, campaign funds and the Somers-Sturdy case.

"The government," said Mr. Finlayson, "has not kept faith with the [illegible] accomplishments and tried to deceive the people about its shortcomings."

Mr. Finlayson said his candidates would tell the story "the government has not been honest enough to tell."

CCF leader Robert Strachan plans to lay down his party's platform in Vancouver Wednesday night. It was shaped by the CCF executive last Friday, he said.

There Is a Limit to Altruism

THE record of Victoria City's operation through the years vis-a-vis its municipal neighbors has seldom recorded this community as taking a selfish or narrow stand in relation to the good of the whole region. If anything, the City has led the way towards reasonable extensions and broader means of co-operation. There is, however, a limit to what Victoria can afford or should be asked to do with respect to signing away its territorial rights or limits. Vancouver had its whole watershed given to it by the Province; Victoria purchased its own. As it happens Elk and Beaver Lake were acquired early and directly for water supply purposes. Today the property is valuable.

This paper has long agreed that Goldstream Park—which the City did not purchase but had given to it long after all its other watershed purchases—would make a natural provincial forest park and be best developed under provincial auspices. Likewise, Thetis Lake in the same general drainage system. It is another matter to suggest that Victoria give up its rights to the Elk Lake holdings, which today have a considerable value. If the Capital District Improvement Commission wishes to take over city property in Saanich worth well in excess of a quarter of a million dollars, it can hardly be expected that Victoria citizens would consent to make a free gift out of that. Even if the City Council were induced to consider so doing, it is unlikely that the ratepayers would ever give their assent.

From the standpoint of the Victoria taxpayer the giving must stop somewhere. It cannot be city altruism all of the time, for the benefit of the surrounding municipalities. Goldstream and Thetis Lake are substantial gifts to the Greater Victoria community in themselves. But if it gave away Elk Lake the City would suffer a considerable drop in its own assets, book and actual. Why should any such course be suggested? The Capital District Improvement Commission has the provincial treasury to lean on.

What Is Due the Public

BRITISH Columbia's sudden election campaign is getting under way in earnest now, with less than a month to go until polling day. Is it too much to ask that the candidates and their supporters stick to the argument, without incursions into areas over which British Columbia has no control or a descent into name-calling? Victorians, to speak of our own community, respond to a logical argument and are irritated as a rule by epithets and personalities which—however "colorful"—add nothing to the dignity of a speaker or to the honor of his audience. What is the course open to the province now and in the immediate future is the field that solicitation should elucidate.

While up to the present no clear-cut election issue has been put before the public, no doubt the campaign itself will develop a number. There is honest disagreement among the public over some basic issues and this should receive the attention of all parties in the campaign. What drags down and reduces the democratic process to something far below its intended function is the personal verbal combats which arise without any corresponding gain to the electorate. The average voter wants to know what each party stands for, what its platform is, what it would do if elected to office and what it will not do. It has very small interest in what any Mr. A thinks of any Mr. B, or vice versa.

Over and above the desires of the contending parties and their electoral nominees is the obligation that is owing to the voters. That is that the case for British Columbia, present and future, will be put and debated sincerely. It is not given to human kind to agree on all things, but from the majority can come that meeting of minds which can select a given course and for a time agree upon that. With the ball at its feet in no uncertain manner, British Columbia needs the assurance of steady and stable governance. That future will depend, certainly in part, on the character of the next Legislature and its administrative committee which is known as a government.

Soldier and Gentleman

A DISTINGUISHED soldier whose roots went back to Canadian militia days of the last century was laid quietly to rest in St. Luke's churchyard yesterday when funeral services were held for Lieut.-Gen. E. C. Ashton. The general was of the old school of traditional courtly officers and his passing leaves a gap in a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. His career was a notable one, embracing regimental command and the higher responsibilities involved in the role of general field officer. He was one of the first war group of Canadian generals who enhanced the reputation of the Canadian Corps in France and Flanders.

It is not often that a man trained as a medical doctor and holding military appointments of this nature goes on to become a successful general in the field. There are few of this calibre, but General Ashton was one of them. He continued after the first war to hold high military posts in succession, culminating in that of inspector general of militia forces in Canada. The second war found him in this position, which he retained until his retirement in Victoria in 1941 at an age which then precluded an active role in the second world conflict of his experience.

It was typical of General Ashton that the crisis following Pearl Harbor should see him take up comparatively humble duties as a district warden of the local ARP organization. He was a man who knew at first-hand the defensive needs of the west coast—he had flown over and inspected the area in an official capacity not long before—and some communities would have seized the opportunity to put him at the head of civilian defence. He was content however to serve selflessly in any capacity, giving freely of his advice and knowledge in those emergent days. This was in keeping with the quiet retiring years he spent in Victoria thereafter, a man who had served his country well and one who was satisfied that this was so. He was an honor to the army to which he had given a lifetime of devotion.

Easy on the Decibels

THROUGH the timely request of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Victorians yesterday had the pleasure of a visit from one of the new Bristol Britannia turbo-prop aircraft acquired by the Canadian Pacific Airlines. In a courtesy call at noon the big airliner made a slow circuit of the city and its environs, and was seen by thousands of citizens in the luncheon period. With a range of 6,000 miles and a cruising speed of 400 miles per hour, the Britannia can carry a capacity list of 132 passengers besides her crew. The big plane is noticeably quiet in the air and easy on the decibels, a factor which should enhance its popularity in service soon over Canadian routes.

Interpreting the News

Northwest China Is Active

By DAVID CHIPP
Reuters Correspondent

LANCHOW, Northwest China, (Reuters)—China is opening up her northwest territories with the speed and planning of a military operation and much of the fervor of a crusade.

After a two-week trip covering more than 3,000 miles in Kansu and Singkiang provinces the main impressions gained are of the importance being placed by the Chinese government in this area which is rich in minerals. Great advances already have been made.

Throughout the region, which stretches up to the Soviet border, the direct control of the central government on development plans and on political life is everywhere apparent. There are Russian advisers and experts and plenty of Russian machinery, but no more than in other parts of China.

This movement that may develop into the largest mass migration in history, as China fills up this sparsely populated border land of deserts and mountains under plans to turn it into one of its most important economic areas.

In Lanchow, a railroad junction which serves as a base for the whole northwest, there are acres of construction materials ranging from wicker baskets and shovels for earth-moving gangs to oil drilling machinery.

The roads from the present railhead at Yumen, some 500 miles to the northwest, to the new oil fields in the Tsaidam basin in Chinghai province bordering on Tibet and in North Singkiang bordering on the Soviet Union are continually busy with streams of heavily laden trucks.

★ ★ ★

Paradoxically, there are at times feats of clever improvisation and engineering skill while at others a lack of initiative and foresight is apparent.

Chinghai province bordering on Tibet—which it was "not possible" to visit—remains the greatest enigma of the northwest. The Chinese claim that the Tsaidam basin there will become a great oil producing centre and the amount of equipment and the number of workers being sent there is evidence that they are confident in this belief. Whether there is also uranium must remain a guess.

Thinking Aloud

Gerald Waring

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

NOT being a student of horoscopes I have always taken birth months as they come—as accidental to the individuals concerned. Any thoughts I may have had on the subject have been concerned, I fear, with regret that my own particular birth month comes round all too quickly.

There is, however, a Yale professor says in a learned work, a significance to months of birth, or at least to two of them—February and March. If your natal day falls therein count yourself among the elite.

Babies born in February or March, avers the professor, live longer than babies born in other months and there are more geniuses among them.

Professors have a habit of taking the joy out of life. Absent-minded? sometimes they mind too much.

★ ★ ★

But just for fun—or spite, seeing I am not among the chosen—let us look into this February and March thesis. Let us cull from the celebrity calendar and see how we make out. A real genius appears only at rare intervals so we shall include persons of talent as well.

Let us mix them up a bit to demonstate our impartiality.

Beginning, say, with Prime Minister St. Laurent. He is one of the select, being born in February, but his predecessor, Mackenzie King, was a child of December. Dickens was a February babe but Sir Walter Scott an August one. Molotov claims March but Stalin celebrated December. Caruso was February but Galli-Curci is November.

Einstein is March but Sir Isaac Newton was December. General McNaughton is February but Field Marshal Montgomery is November.

Turning to other pursuits Michelangelo came to life in March but Shakespeare squared the account by appearing in April. Chopin entered on the world stage in March but Goethe made his debut in April. Bobby Jones has a March birthday but Harry Vardon had an August birthday. Neville Chamberlain was also March but Sir Winston Churchill is November. Lincoln and Washington both came in February but Jefferson came in April and Woodrow Wilson in December.

Babe Ruth could call February his natal month but Jack Dempsey cites June. Edison was also February but Henry Ford first saw light in July.

★ ★ ★

For good measure all of the following appeared otherwise than in February or March: Napoleon, Lloyd George, Hindenburg, Mrs. Pankhurst, President Eisenhower, Lord Alexander, Florence Nightingale, the Pitts, elder and younger, and Wallace Beery.

And what does all this prove? Nothing much. Celebrities are like statistics, one picks the figure to suit the argument. I have, I daresay, loaded the dice.

Also, I have only dabbled with the professor's theory. Nor have I checked ages to see what babies live longest, although I believe Gladstone lived to be 89, Bernard Shaw died at 94, Tolstoy at 82, and neither of them was born in February or March.

And, of course, if I pursue the matter too deeply it may validate the professor's opinion, and since I was a mid-summer baby that would never do at all.

Reports from Ottawa

AN open letter to Prime Minister St. Laurent on the sickness of the Senate:

Dear Mr. Prime Minister:

During your holidays at St. Patrice in the next three weeks you will, I assume, consider the question of filling some or all of the 13 vacancies in the Senate.

Without being presumptuous, may I suggest that you defer all Senate appointments until after the election.

I hasten to explain that I am not seeking to pull any Tory chestnuts out of the fire. But I believe that if you thus postpone action on Senate vacancies, it will be politically practicable after the election for you to continue and enlarge on the courageous break with obsolete tradition which you made a year ago when you appointed several distinguished persons of political independent views to the Senate.

★ ★ ★

I do not urge you to follow the other precedent you set when you appointed a former Conservative member of the Commons, John T. Hackett, to a seat in the Senate. I reecognize that your long personal friendship with him was a special consideration. But I believe it is not politically practical for a Liberal prime minister to award offices withir his gift to his political opponents. Nor do I think it is desirable, for it is merely a variation of the system of appointing senators on a political basis which has contributed much to bringing the Senate to its present disrepute.

And if I recall correctly, you already have indicated that you do not consider it is your responsibility to rebuild the Conservative minority in the Senate when the voters show lack of confidence in the Conservative Party.

★ ★ ★

I think you have indicated the best solution of the problem of the Senate by your appointment of Senators Donald Cameron of the Banff Fine Arts School; Hartley Molson, business man and patron of the arts; T. D. Leonard, lawyer and business man, and C. F. Savole, educationist.

These men have just completed what you might call their freshmen year in the Senate, with mixed reactions. Unfortunately—but not surprisingly—one strong reaction is frustration. They accepted your invitation to become senators in the hope and belief that they were thus embarking on careers of useful public service. Little has happened in the Senate this year to encourage this hope or confirm this belief.

The problem of encouraging a small minority of doers among a great majority of do-littles is difficult. But unless you solve it—by, I suggest, adding other doers to their numbers and otherwise enabling them to justify their presence in Ottawa to themselves—you might as well have saved yourself the ill will of the Liberals who think they were slighted when you appointed these four. In other words, your laudable beginning now demands a follow-through.

On the eve you might say of an election, perhaps you cannot afford to risk alienating more party stalwarts by appointing "outsiders" to the Senate. But you could make such appointments after the election. And by doing so, I submit, you will make one of your greatest contributions to the strengthening of Parliament.

Respectfully yours,
GERALD WARING.

The Packsack

Their Own Medicine

By GREGORY CLARK

IF THERE is one person amongst my acquaintances who makes me tired, it is the one who greets me with: "You look tired."

As far as I can learn, there is one of these Job's comforters in every group of us. As a rule they are healthy people. And it seems that the only time they go about telling friends they look tired out or all in, or run down, is when they themselves are feeling particularly good. This leads me to suspect they are using an oblique method of calling attention to their own well-being.

I don't go so far as to believe they are deliberately trying to make others feel bad. The damage they do is sometimes fairly serious. After being told she looks all in, many a woman really becomes all in, and may even imagine she is headed for a breakdown. Most of us know perfectly well when we look tired, because we feel tired.

It may be tender solicitude on the part of a friend who tells us we ought to take a rest, see a doctor, have a check-up. But even if it is tender solicitude, my method of countering such remarks is worth remembering. Try it on the next tender solicitor who remarks on your seedy appearance. It goes like this:

Friend: "Say, you're not looking so hot the last little while."

Me: "I'm glad you noticed it, old boy (or old girl). I didn't know how to break the ice, myself."

Friend, alarmed: "Why, what's the matter? How do you mean?"

Me: "I've been wanting to mention it to you for two or three weeks past, but I just didn't know how to start."

Friend: "Good heavens, what is it?"

Me: "Well, it's you, old boy (or old girl). You've looked so strange the past month or two, so thin and run down. I've been worried sick about you. Maybe that's what you noticed in me. I get a sinking each time I see you, and I simply didn't know how to begin . . ."

By this time your hearty, healthy friend is ghastly pale, the mouth opening and shutting like a gold-fish's, but no words coming.

Me: "I've noticed it for at least a month, maybe six weeks. How do you feel? Have you had a check-up in recent months? At your age, I wouldn't . . ."

Your friend sits down.

Friend: "Why, I never felt better in my life! Why, I . . . Why . . ."

Always give kind friends a dose of their own medicine. They don't take it otherwise.

Colonial Status

Alaska Embittered

By ERIC DOWNTON
Ottawa Correspondent of North American Newspaper Alliance

ANCHORAGE, Alaska—A 160-year-old political stunt will be revived this fall as an angry Alaska makes its strongest bid to date for statehood.

This drive for statehood, an issue laced with strong words and hot emotions, is linking almost all Alaskans in a common bond, regardless of political faiths. And on Oct. 9 the 208,000 citizens of this vast northland, twice the size of Texas, will go to the polls to elect two United States senators and one representative.

These three will not be allowed to sit at Washington, as Alaska is not a state. But the three will go to Washington anyway hoping that by depositing the statehood issue so dramatically on the government's doorstep, something will have to be done.

And they have a good precedent for this hope. Back in 1796, Tennessee elected two senators after Congress refused to make Tennessee a state. These two went to Washington, and 65 days after their arrival Tennessee was granted statehood.

For this reason the "Tennessee Plan," as it is called here, is widely favored as a practical way in which to bring the long-discussed statehood for Alaska question to the attention of the people.

Alaskans themselves have little doubt about the rightness of their cause. The belief here is that the Alaskan case for statehood is not being judged in Washington on its merits. Statehood, they believe, is being delayed mainly through the influence of southern states.

★ ★ ★

Alaskans, including former governor Ernest Gruening, speak bitterly of being "an American colony." The secretary of the interior is commonly referred to as "the czar of Alaska."

Most of Alaska's current woes—notably the delay in developing natural resources, inflated wage rates and living costs, the alleged spoliation of the fisheries (still Alaska's biggest indigenous industry), and "taxation without representation"—are customarily blamed upon the refusal of Congress to admit this territory as a state in the American Union.

A great deal of impassioned oratory on these issues will be heard throughout this U.S. "top of the world" territory during the next two months in the election campaign just now warming up, with voting day Oct. 9.

As interpreted here, Congress insists on linking Hawaii and Alaska in this statehood issue—both or neither to be admitted at the same time.

★ ★ ★

Alaskan leaders, their views being widely accepted by the public, are convinced that statehood is being withheld mainly through the machinations of southern states, particularly in the Senate. Admission of Alaska and Hawaii would mean four new senators (two from each territory) and three new representatives (two from Hawaii, one from Alaska).

This, according to reckoning here, would deprive the southern bloc of their numerically advantageous protective line-up in the Senate. Further, there is believed to be prejudice against Hawaii among the southern bloc on color grounds.

★ ★ ★

Alaskans themselves are all prepared for statehood. At territorial primary elections held April 24, a constitution—termed modern, sound and workable by The New York Times in an editorial—was adopted. This constitution, 14,400 words in length, represented Alaskan thinking.

Helping draw it up were bush flier and lawyers, homesteaders and miners. Remote Eskimo villages had representatives at the lengthy session which gave birth to the constitution, and acting as co-chairman of these deliberations was a Tlinget Indian.

It was an aroused and embittered Alaska in action—but the constitution text was a model of restraint, brevity and clarity. It is this land's charter of independence, a "piece of paper" which, if accepted, would do away with many of the little-known but very real Alaskan grievances.

Alaskans, for instance, are Americans—but they are classified as foreigners and under the McCarran Act are treated as such for immigration inspection when they travel south. And residents of Alaska, while taxed on the same scale as inhabitants of the continental U.S., have been almost entirely excluded from federal aid for highway and housing construction.

Letters to the Editor

Time To Register

This quick election with its possible effect of disfranchizing many of our citizens is a very serious matter. We pride ourselves on being a democracy. Democracy is more than political techniques, more than economic and social reform, it is a way of life. It is an attitude towards your fellow man whereby you will secure for him his full rights in the community, his full freedom, secure his individual happiness and place him as an equal among his fellow men. Among these, you will secure for him his right to vote and thus his right to govern.

Our premier has obeyed the rules as to technicalities in calling the election. But he has without a doubt violated the spirit of democracy. Nor can he escape this violation by stating that it is the responsibility of the opposition to see that people are put on the voters list. Section 10 of the Election Act places this responsibility squarely on his shoulders. But perhaps we as citizens can make up for this lack of democratic spirit in our premier.

I would suggest that all employers between now and the closing of the voting registration stations on Aug. 21 grant to each employee one half-hour off so that the employee can go and register. This would be a small but substantial contribution to the spirit of our democracy and would perhaps ease the current situation. We as the people of a democracy can always make up for the shortcomings in our representatives. Will you join with me in granting to your employees one half-hour off to register as your real contribution to your fellow man and our democracy?

Well Cared For

Re the poor food at the aged ladies' home: I happen to have worked at that home and have seen the food prepared and served.

True, the breakfast varies very little, but when we remember there are around 100 ladies cared for in that home, what would one expect served? — especially for the mere pittance paid.

I very much doubt if there is any other place in the whole of Canada where aged people are so well cared for for so little money.

No one invites those ladies to the home. No one compels them to stay there. I am wondering why the sympathetic lady complaining does not take her friend from the home and care for her in her own home. She is probably in a position to serve ham and eggs or beefsteak for breakfast. I wonder? Even the costs of heating that home must be enormous.

Please make it plain. This letter has not been solicited, neither does anyone connected with the home know it is being written. I am British and I like to see fair play.

History of B.C.

May I add my humble piece to your recent editorial lauding the gesture of the provincial government in ordering 2,000 copies of Mr. Bruce McKelvie's "Pageant of B.C." for school libraries throughout the province?

No historian in British Columbia merits greater support or commendation than my friend Bruce McKelvie. I had the privilege of working under him when he had the city desk on The Daily Colonist over 20 years ago—and it was always a pleasure to listen to his anecdotes and humorous sketches of past historical characters who were even then rapidly fading into oblivion.

With the near approach of the centennial celebrations it would seem only fitting that men of Bruce McKelvie's ability and high calibre should receive full recognition for the parts they play in bringing back to the present the glamorous and stirring history of a hundred years in British Columbia.

Democratic Socialism

Some of your more elderly readers will be interested in the assurance of Messrs. Mortimore and Young that "Democratic socialism and communism are a world apart."

Perhaps Mr. Harold Winch would have been premier of B.C. had not many voters feared he might be an autocratic socialist.

As house leader of B.C. CCF he appeared to have characteristics quite distinctly different to his predecessor.

Owning the Navy

I would like to comment on the remarks of Mr. Ohrt in his letter "Well Done, Navy." No praise can be too high for the show put on by the Canadian navy but why add unfavorable criticism of the British navy. Mr. Ohrt is not correct in his suggestion that the public was not allowed to "traipse on board warships prior to 1914." Ship's visitors day is an old institution and the ships personnel made every effort to entertain the public. These occasions were frequent.

The story of the merchant being rudely received by the officer on duty is new to me. But I did hear an anecdote concerning a visit by a Cockney, at an unsuitable hour. The officer on duty receives him politely and the visitor asks to see the captain of the battleship. "Whom shall I announce to the captain," says the OOW. "Oh, tell him one of the owners would like to see him."

Middle-of-Road Forest Policy Urged

A middle path between two extreme views on forest policy was urged yesterday before the Sloan royal commission on forestry by John Liersch, vice-president of Powell River Company.

The 18-month-long commission hearings are expected to finish this week. Evidence runs into more than 6,000,000 words spread over more than 20,000 pages of transcript, in addition to 486 exhibits. The volumes of evidence, stacked side by side, extend for about 12 feet.

Mr. Liersch said his company disagreed with two extreme views presented to the commission.

Firstly, he did not agree with a certain segment of industry that the government could manage the entire provincial forest as one gigantic state farm of 90,000,000 acres.

He said two royal commissions sitting previously had shown there was no public support for the vast cost required.

The company, he said, was equally opposed to those who had suggested "a chosen instrument" policy by which Crown timber would be allocated without competition.

This method required the government to choose between an individual (or company) and another and violated tried and tested democratic principles under which no government should choose favorites because of political beliefs, affiliations, or similar factors, he said.

Mr. Liersch singled out MacMillan and Bloedel for attack. He suggested that in evaluating the evidence of MacMillan and Bloedel, Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan should consider whether the company's proposals would strengthen their position as the largest forest industry in the province at the expense of all other companies.

MacMillan and Bloedel, Ltd., said Mr. Liersch, had taken an unusual position in that being holder of two of the largest forest management licences in B.C., it had suggested that no other FMLs be granted to any other company under any circumstances.

In addition MacMillan and Bloedel, being the largest land owner in the province, had recommended that no other land be sold for the practice of forestry. The net effect of this suggestion, he said, would be to strengthen the entrenched position of this company.

Mr. Liersch recommended a middle-of-the-road policy with partly government and partly private management of forests. Management licences should be issued only on a partnership basis — companies owning private timber must match the government in contributing timber for management under over-all control by the government.

He urged the sale of forest land for operation as tree farms and said this would keep industry competitive in relation to dealings with government and at the same time promote better forest growth.

Trading Sags, Stocks Down In Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market eased lower Monday in light trading. It was the first definite trend the market had set in a week but brokers considered the lower picture as only temporary.

Ogilvie dipped two points among industrials. Other losers of about a point were Atlas Steels, Southam, Ridgeway, Consolidated Paper, Interprovincial Pipe Line and Canada and Dominion Sugar. Regent gained ½ point after being ahead 1½ points earlier at a new high of 26. Imperial Oil was up ⅝.

Senior base metals were lower with International Nickel and Labrador off 1½ points. Hudson Bay lost a point.

Coppers were stronger with Campbell Chibougamau ahead ⅛. Other copper issues added minor gains. Iron Bay lost 20 cents in junior base metals but Belcher and Arcadia Nickel were up 10 cents.

Cree Oil featured western oils gaining 40 cents. Gridoil, however, lost 1⅜ points and Husky ½. Canada Southern Pete and National Pete were off 15 cents.

More Losses

MONTREAL (CP)—Losses outnumbered gains two-to-one yesterday as the Montreal and Canadian exchanges closed decisively lower in moderate trading. Price changes ran over a point.

Base metals were hard-hit as International Nickel fell 2⅜ and Aluminium dropped 1½. McColl lost a point in a shaded refining oil section. Algoma retreated 1½ in the steels.

Price dipped a point and Consolidated faded ¾ in a generally easier paper group. Great Lakes climbed 1½ in the section. Shawinigan slipped ⅝ and Gatineau softened ¼ in the utilities.

No trend was indicated as the mines and western oils fluctuated in a 10-cent range. Chib Javulet, Louvicourt, New Jack Lake, Haitian and Tache were up while Portage, Quebec Smelting, Merrill Island, Bateman Bay and and Montgary were down. Campbell Chib climbed one point in the the senior issues.

General Retreat

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market underwent a general retreat Monday in its biggest decline in two weeks.

Key issues were down between 1 and 2 points in quiet trading. The market turned lower shortly after the opening and continued that course throughout the day.

Glen L. Martin took honors as the most active stock, with volume of 47,700 shares, up ⅞ at 37¼.

Substantial losers included Chrysler, off 1⅝; Goodrich, off 1¼; Caterpillar, off 1⅜ and Anaconda.

The American Stock Exchange was lower on volume of 750,000 shares compared with Friday's 640,000 shares. Humble Oil lost 2⅜ at 117.

Most Canadian issues lost ground during the day's trading on the New York Stock exchange. Aluminium Ltd. was down 1¼ followed by International Nickel, off 9⅛. Walker-Gooderham slipped ⅝ and Distillers-Seagrams and Hudson Bay Mining both lost ⅛. McIntyre was unchanged.

Canadian Marconi was the only gainer among Canadian stocks on the American exchange with a rise of ⅛. Shawinigan led the losers with a fall of ⅝. Mines and oils dipped minor fractions.

Quiet Trading

LONDON (Reuters) — British funds were a strong feature in a quiet market yesterday as operators on the London stock market held off pending developments in the Suez talks. British funds had all-round gains of up to ½ point.

Canadian Pacific was active in rails but prices were off the top.

After an uncertain opening a number of industrial leaders showed a firmer tendency and gains of a few pence were scored by Associated Electrical, Bowaters and Guest Keen. Borax, Hudson's Bay and Suez Canal shares, however, were dull spots.

In oils British Petroleum and Burma shares eased a shade.

Kaffirs was dull and copper shares were idle.

CHICAGO (AP)—All rye futures spurted to new seasonal highs while the rest of the grain market puttered around without getting anywhere on the board of trade Monday.

Advancing prices for rye were tied in with gains in that cereal at Winnipeg. The Canadian crop is expected to be much smaller this year and production is also down in the United States.

Late in the day wheat firmed a bit, apparently helped by the strength in rye. Other grains held around previous closing levels.

Wheat closed 1⅛-1⅝ higher, September $2.20⅝-$2.21, corn ⅛ lower to 1 cent higher, September $1.51⅞, oats ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, September 74⅝, rye 3⅜-4½ higher, September $1.49-$1.48¾ and soybeans unchanged to 1 cent higher, September $2.48¼-½.

VANCOUVER (BUP) — Trading was fairly active on the Vancouver stock exchange Monday, with prices generally lower.

In the oils, Van Tor was up seven cents at $2.03, Fort St. John down 10 at $2.95, and Yankee Princess down two at $1.10.

In the mines, National Ex was up two at 66 cents, Red Hawk even at 14 cents on a heavy turnover, Bethlehem Copper down seven at $2.62, Canam Copper down five at $1.32 and Trojan down five at 45 cents.

Leading Investment Area

U.S. Money Likes Canada

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canada continued as the leading area for United States investment in 1955, but the amount of gain was somewhat under preceding years. The U.S. commerce department reports that over-all private U.S. investment in foreign countries rose by $2,500,000,000 last year and there were indications that the upswing continued into 1956.

Total value of private American investment abroad at the close of 1955 was estimated at $29,000,000,000.

Of this, $19,000,000 was direct investment in foreign branches and subsidiaries of U.S. firms —compared with $7,000,000,000 similiarly invested at the end of the Second World War.

Of the $19,000,000,000, Canada and Latin America each [illegible] Canada having the slightly larger amount. Western Europe had $3,000,000,000.

While the gain in U.S. investment in Canada last year was under preceding years, the upturn in Latin America was outstanding with U.S. firms adding $300,000,000 to direct investment.

A commerce department survey of current business said the over-all increase in foreign investment was spurred by increased interest in manufacturing and petroleum.

The survey, to be made public this week, showed that U.S. investment in Europe also rose rapidly, with a gain of $200,000,000 in manufacturing plants, mainly in the United Kingdom, France and Germany. U.S. money added to the petroleum industry in Europe last year was $100,000,000.

British Made More Money

LONDON (Reuters) — Britons made more money, spent more and saved more last year than in any other period in history.

This was shown in a survey of national income and expenditure between 1950 and 1955 published today by the central stastical office.

The survey showed that personal incomes, before tax, last year totalled £11,910,000,000 ($33,348,000,000)—an increase of eight per cent over the previous year.

After allowing for price changes, consumer expenditures during the period increased by three per cent, the survey showed.

Industry Invades Saguenay Region

CHICOUTIMI, Que. (CP) — An unprecedented building boom reflects the growth of the industrial Saguenay region of northeastern Quebec, with its 80,000 inhabitants.

Reports from the secretary-treasurers of 10 municipalities in the region show that 1,104 permits for construction and repairs, valued at a record $13,000,000, were issued during the first seven months of 1956, a 23-per-cent increase over the corresponding period last year.

The first seven months of 1955 saw 896 permits valued at $9,334,597 issued.

The permits cover construction of dwellings and commercial and industrial building. The projects include a $2,486,910 power site, a $1,000,000 classical college, two office buildings of $600,000 each and four schools with a total value of $1,000,000.

The municipalities canvassed were Chicoutimi, Chicoutimi-Nord, Port Alfred, Jonquiere, Alma, Naudville, Isle - Maligne, Kenogami, Bagotville and Arvida.

MOST HOMES

Suburban Chicoutimi-Nord leads in home construction, with 162 dwellings completed or nearing completion this year. Chicoutimi itself has 96 new homes while the aluminum centre of Arvida has 85 and Kenogami 45.

As far as value of this year's projects is concerned, Arvida is ahead. Permits amounting to $3,585,722 were issued there since January, compared with $1,209,900 in the corresponding period last year.

The current Arvida projects include a $2,486,722 power dam project of the Aluminum Company of Canada and a $25,000 school.

Chicoutimi is one of the few which registered a drop in value. A total of 333 construction and repair permits, valued at $2,965,000, were issued in the first seven months of 1956, compared with 138 permits valued at $3,647,900 in the first seven months of 1955.

Mining Firm Will Drill In South B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Greenwood Copper Corp. Ltd. says it plans to begin immediate diamond drill operations at its 24-claim property in the Greenwood-Phoenix copper camp of South Central B.C.

C. W. S. Tremaine, consulting engineer, reported that two large anomalies and seven smaller anomalies were located during a survey of the property.

"These anomalies are areas of high magnetic intensity and indicate the parts of the property where we can expect to find magnetite in massive or disseminated form," he said. "In the Greenwood and Phoenix areas magnetite is nearly always associated with the ore zones that carry copper, mainly in the form of chalcopyrite."

Greenwood Copper's manager G. Allan MacPherson said immediate diamond drilling is planned.

Men Killed at Dieppe Honored at U.K. Service

BRIGHTON, England (CP)—Watched by more than 3,000 holiday-makers at this south coast resort, about 500 veterans of the Second World War took part in a memorial parade here Sunday honoring men who lost their lives in the Dieppe raid exactly 14 years ago.

The majority of the veterans were former members of the Canadian forces now living in Britain and many were survivors of the bitter fighting on the treacherous shale beaches of Dieppe Aug. 19, 1942, in which nearly 1,000 Canadians were killed.

The service was conducted by Canon R. D. Daunton-Fear, vicar of St. Philip's Anglican Church at nearby Hove, who obtained his doctorate of theology at St. Chad's College, Regina.

Led by an air cadet band, the veterans swung down Brighton's wide seafront past a string of amusement booths to the peace memorial, where the service took place. The memorial was flanked by two flagpoles from which flew the Red Ensign of Canada and the Union Jack.

As the Last Post sounded, a squadron of RAF jet fighters roared overhead.

The salute at the march past was taken by Vice Admiral John Hughes - Hallett, Conservative member of Parliament for Northeast Croydon and the officer commanding naval units during the raid.

Later the veterans were entertained at a reception in Hove town hall.

Among those attending the parade was Sgt. C. W. Train of Vancouver, who won the Victoria Cross in the Middle East during the Second World War while serving with a London regiment. Sgt. Train has been holidaying in the United Kingdom after attending the VC centenary celebrations in London at the end of June.

Of an allied force of some 6,000 men that took part in the raid, 4,963 were Canadian. Of these, only 2,211 came back and Canadian prisoners taken in nine hours of fighting outnumbered those captured in 20 months in Italy.

City Fools Experts Again As Rate of Growth Slow

Victoria has fooled some of the experts again by failing to grow as fast in fact as in fancy.

When the 1951 census figure for the city's population was released, it was so far below the predicted total that city council protested that there must have been a mistake.

The total then was 51,331. In the intervening years, some authorities have thought of the population as rising about 500 a year.

J. W. Wilson, planning consultant to the Capital Region Planning Board in 1954, indicated in his report, "The Capital Region Takes Stock," that by this year the population of Victoria city would be around 55,000.

Yesterday, preliminary 1956 census figures were released in Ottawa, showing the city's population as 52,935, or only 1,604 more than in 1951.

No figures were immediately available for Saanich, where the increase is expected to be considerably greater, nor for Oak Bay or Esquimalt.

If the Victoria total remains unchanged in final revision, and if provincial aid is granted to municipalities next year on the same basis as this year, the city will gain more than $10,000 through its increased population.

The provincial aid to municipalities is given on a per-capita basis, and this year the formula was $16 per capita for the first 3,500 of population, $12 per capita between 3,500 and 8,000; $8 between $8,000 and 50,000 and $6.50 beyond 50,00.

A trend toward urban living in Canada, apparent for some time, has ben confirmed, according to Ottawa reports.

Eventual outcome of the census, first since 1951, is expected to show Canada's total population has risen in the five-year interval from 15,000,000 to about 16,000,000.

Canadian Packers net profit in the fiscal year ending March 28 was $4,745,533 ($3.95 for each A and B share) against $3,796,055 ($3.10 for each A and B share) in the previous year.

The company allotted $1,325,000 out of earnings to its employees profit sharing plan, which now stands at $3,448,233 after three years in operation.

Many See Giant Plane

A virtue of the Bristol Britannia aircraft lost it some attention in Victoria yesterday.

The four-engine, 132-passenger plane circled gracefully only a few hundred feet above the city, so quietly that many failed to notice it. Its turbo-propeller engines emitted only a low whine, like a car slowing down in second gear.

Many, though, did see it, and marvelled at its size and beautiful lines.

The aircraft—Britain's bid to capture the world passenger plane market—came over Victoria on its brief visit at noon, shortly before it was scheduled to leave Vancouver for San Francisco.

It arrived in Vancouver Sunday from Los Angeles, making the 1,086-mile trip in three hours, 24 minutes.

The plane, a model 100, has a cruising speed of 400 miles an hour, a range of 6,000 miles, and operates at 30,000 feet.

Grant McConachie, president of Canadian Pacific Airlines, announced last week that the company has ordered five of the faster, longer-range model 310s and taken an option on five more. Delivery is expected next year.

POPULATION GROWTH

Population growth in Canada in 1955 because of natural increase —the number of births over deaths—was 313,000.

Something New in Guided Muscle

...at a pip of a price!

TIME'S awasting—while you could be enjoying the fun and thrill of a new kind of power performance at the wheel of the best Buick yet.

And right now the value of your present car is at its peak. You could make a whale of a fine deal on a great-buy Buick with something really new in soaring might.

It's not just that Buick's new V8 is 322 cubic inches big. That it develops more torque and horsepower than even Buick has had before.

There's the new guided dynamite that makes the most of all this.

That's the latest version of Variable Pitch Dynaflow.* It's so "muscled" that it delivers swift new acceleration with less than an inch of pedal travel—and saves gas in the doing.

And when the occasion demands, you can unleash the full power at your command on a shaved second's notice. Tromp down on the treadle and you switch the pitch. There's an instant safety-surge of power that leaves trouble fading away behind you.

But there's a lot more to Buick's new performance than the smooth, sheer might at your command—as you'll discover.

You just can't know today's driving at its eyeopening best until you boss a new Buick.

And it's still only August. You still have months to be driving the most modern car on the road. You still can take advantage of this month's high value on your present car—to deal yourself in on the best buy you'll get in many a moon.

So why wait? Today is a great time to buy a Buick—the best Buick yet, by far. We're ready to open your eyes with the why and how. How about right now?

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century — optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

TACKLE BOX

WHAT TO DO?: Tom Merrick, new president of Cowichan Bay Salmon Club, has been doing a great job this season in publicizing the spring salmon fishing at Cowichan Bay.

Increased boat rentals are proof that Merrick's campaign has been bringing results but before it can be termed a real success, some solution will have to be found to prevent "still" fishermen from ruining the enjoyment for trollers.

Trollers are still far in the majority ... it is patently unfair for the so-called moochers to set up shop right on the two main lines of traffic and to sit there throughout the fishing period while trollers are forced away from the better fishing areas. After two tries and both during the week when there were fewer boats out, Cowichan Bay fishing lost a bit of interest for me because of the stationary anglers sitting over the good spots. And there are others who feel the same way about it.

There may be nothing wrong with still fishing as a method of catching salmon but it shouldn't be done in a place such as Cowichan Bay, where there is only a small fishing area. Unfortunately, there is nothing that can be done about it at the moment. It's legal.

But something should be done about it, if for no other reason than to prevent instances such as the one last week when five Seattle visitors took home 34 salmon in a flying visit which lasted less than 36 hours.

Mooching, or still fishing, which is what it actually is the way it is done at Cowichan Bay, is a deadly method. Late in the season, when Salmon would be on their spawning grounds had river levels been high enough, it seems particularly deadly. If fisheries officials are worried that sports fishermen may be getting too many salmon from a spawning run, as a suggestion why not start conservation by a law which permits trolling only in areas where spawning salmon congregate?

* * *

ANOTHER PROBLEM: Another problem for those trying to popularize Cowichan Bay fishing concerns the government wharf. Two boat-owners have told me they would fish Cowichan Bay more often if they could be sure of finding a berth at the wharf. As it is, they claim, much of the space is being used by local boat-owners, who are saving wharfage charges.

It would seem that these boat-owners have a complaint. A check made a week ago Sunday disclosed that 47 boats were being tied up permanently at the government wharf, and they were taking up about 800 feet of the available space. A small charge of 50 or 75 cents a day, which cruising visitors wouldn't mind, would soon rectify matters.

* * *

TRIP PAID OFF: Hugh Reid of Kokisilah went a long way for his fishing Sunday, but the trip was well worth the trouble.

Hugh and Hugh Menzies, Jim Clough and Alan Gammie of Duncan left Cowichan Bay Sunday morning in Hugh's 16-foot Peterborough, powered with a 30-horsepower outboard. About three hours and 60-70 miles later, they were off Bowen Island and getting ready to fish in the Sun Salmon Derby.

Hugh came back with a 10-foot fibre-glass boat, complete with outboard motor in tow. Using a Strip-Teaser, with a flasher, he boated a 25-pound, one-ounce salmon and it proved to be the third largest in the huge derby.

He missed first prize by two and three-quarter pounds. The $2,400 cruiser was won by Les MacNichol of Vancouver, who weighed in a 27-pound, 13-ounce spring.

* * *

SALTSPRING DERBY: Chuck Hougen won the annual salmon derby staged by Saltspring Island Rod and Gun Club on Sunday. Hougen's salmon weighed eight pounds, 11 ounces.

Mrs. A. J. Bryant won first prize among the ladies with a seven-pound, 12-ounce salmon and Bob Morris was the junior winner.

Other prizes were won by Mrs. C. Hougen, Tom Lowry of Galiano Island, Dr. Ivor Williams, Larry Anderson, Mervyn Gardner, Miss H. Fehwalon, Douglas Parsons, R. Vapaavuori, Mrs. R. Vapaavuori, James Okano, E. J. Ashlee, Mrs. E. W. Lee of Galiano Island, E. Hardy, J. B. Foubister, Frank Stevens and Gerald Ruddick.

Mrs. Ronald Lee won the weight-guessing contest and Mrs. E. W. Lee won a power lawn-mower, top non-fishing prize.

Prizes were presented by L. G. Mouat and F. A. E. Morris, club president.

REELIN IN: Cowichan Bay fishing tailed off after Friday and was not good over the weekend. Hot weather and the huge number of boats—150 were counted Saturday morning—were blamed by some—Eric Barnes of the Anchorage Boathouse reported last night that fishing in Saanich Inlet was good yesterday, all 17 boats out bringing back at least one salmon. A good share of the catch were coho up to eight pounds. They were found mostly near McKenzie Bay and taking Tom Mack spoons most often ... which reminds me that if it hadn't been for H. Ingram I would have owned a new salt-water spinning reel, particularly desirable as it was donated by Bill Walker's paper. A seven-pound, seven-ounce coho was all that happened to me in the ladder derby fish-off. But it was the largest coho until Ingram showed up at the last moment. Ah, well ... One of the largest Tyees taken at Campbell River this year was weighed in last week at the Ferndell Camp ... It was caught by Fred Jordan of Stockton, Calif., who stays in his trailer at Ferndell camp for three months of fishing each year. Oh, yes, it weighed 62½ pounds ... Eight-year-old Wendy Vey of Cowichan Bay made her bid in the Colonist's King Fisherman Contest a week or so ago with an 11¼-pound spring salmon ... and this month's award for the smartest angler goes to Frank Webb, who wanted to qualify for the Duffer's Derby. Knowing if he caught anything under the circumstances that it would be small, he got Andy Andersen to take him out fishing during the last qualifying week. Fran boated a seven-ouncer, which eventually led to a rumor that Andy and a friend had caught seven salmon.

Picked Right Time

First button-sized salmon proved a big one for Herb Tate, who won the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association main ladder derby fishoff Sunday with a 33-pound, seven-ounce fish taken near Goldstream island on a Strip-Teaser. Tate won the Woodward and Household Finance trophies and picked up $525 in cash. See story on Page 9.—(Photo by Chevrons Studio.)

Lions Lead After Second Win; Vereb Star as Riders Beaten

VANCOUVER—Ed Vereb, an All-American halfback at the University of Maryland last year, put on a sensational performance for 28,825 fans at Empire Stadium Monday night to lead B.C. Lions to a 20-9 triumph over Saskatchewan Roughriders.

It was the second victory for the Lions in the three-game-old Western Interprovincial Football Union schedule and it moved them into first place by themselves. It also increased hopes that they are good enough to make the playdowns this season.

The crowd was just short of a new Canadian football record. Biggest crowd for a scheduled game assembled at Empire Stadium last year for a game between the Lions and Edmonton Eskimos. There were 29,503 on hand for that one.

Last night's score: Vancouver 20, Regina 9.
Next games, Saturday: Winnipeg at Regina; Calgary at Edmonton.

Vereb was undoubtedly Monday night's star. He was on the spot in the second quarter to grab a fumble he caused in the Riders' end zone for the first points for the Lions, a touchdown which tied the score and which probably turned the tide as Riders had been having a good edge up until then.

In the third quarter, Vereb pulled off a spectacular 53-yard run for his club's second touchdown. Taking a lateral from quarterback Tony Teresa, Vereb took off on an end run. He shook off Joe McWilliams, was grabbed again on the Riders' 10-yard line, but slithered, rolled and pushed the rest of the way before literally crawling across for the score.

And, finally, it was his 13-yard end run in the final minute of the third quarter which set up Pollard's two-yard plunge for Lions' third touchdown.

Vereb was also a key figure in the tight, alert Vancouver defence which came through when it was needed. It was his fierce tackle of Jim Waddell which caused the Saskatchewan back to fumble and he was backing up soundly throughout.

CAMERON A HELP

And there was other good news for the Lions in the performance of Paul Cameron, the highly-touted back who was All-American when playing for UCLA in 1953 and who was making his first start in Canadian football after two years of army service.

Cameron was a bright star defensively, intercepting two passes in the fourth quarter. In addition, he was given a fling at quarterbacking, spelling Tony Teresa, and handled himself, and the club, well.

Cameron's appearance at signal-calling possibly meant that Arnie Galiffa will be among those cut by the Lions. Teresa again played well and it is believed that coach Clem Crowe will decide to go along with Cameron and Teresa as his quarterbacks.

TOP STARS OUT

Riders, handicapped considerably because their two best backs—fullback Bobby Marlow and halfback Ken Carpenter, WIFU scoring champion last year—were out with injuries, had a statistical edge.

The visitors gained 21 first downs against Lions' 16 but they couldn't stop Lions' ground attack, which rolled up 261 yards. However, Teresa and Cameron completed only four of 16 passes for 38 yards.

Lions held Riders to 117 yards on the ground but the losers made 285 yards in the air, completing 14 of 32 passes. Loss of their two ace running backs forced them to take to the air but while their yardage was good, the alert Lions intercepted four times.

GAIN ON FUMBLES

Fumbles also helped the Lions. They recovered all three of their own and three of the four made by Saskatchewan.

Riders took the lead when Waddell, a standout, circled end from nine yards in the first quarter. Reg Whitehouse missed the convert and Lions went ahead to stay when Pollard converted Vereb's first touchdown. A rouge made the half-time score 8-6.

Vereb's tremendous run made it 14-6 and Pollard's touchdown clinched it after a field goal by Whitehouse put Riders into a threatening position at 14-9.

Stops Redleg Rally

Spahn in Top Form As Braves Roll On

Warren Spahn, the 35-year-old southpaw who some experts said was far past his peak, is coming through for Milwaukee's pennant-conscious Braves just when he is needed the most.

On Sunday, Spahn recorded his 14th victory as he held the Redlegs to eight scattered hits in scoring a 3-1 verdict.

Yesterday, in the only major league game, Spahn ambled out from the bullpen in the ninth inning to get the last out and cut off an attempted rally as the Braves took the Reds again, and again by the same 3-1 score.

ROBINSON HOMERS

Lew Burdette, who had a three-hit shut out starting the ninth, was greeted by rookie Frank Robinson's 30th home run. Bob Thurman walked but Burdette, 4-0 against the Reds, got Ted Kluszewski to hit into a double play. However, when Wally Post singled, manager Fred Haney called on Spahn, who got dangerous Ed Bailey on a ground ball.

The two weekend victories boosted Milwaukee's lead over the idle Brooklyn Dodgers to two and a half games. The Reds who always seem to falter when they get close, are another game behind.

Reds were beaten both times by home runs. Yesterday Eddie Matthews hit his 29th with a man on in the third and Joe Adcock belted his 30th for an insurance run in the sixth. On Sunday, after Matthews had tied the game with his 28th home run in the sixth inning, Hank Aaron hit his 18th with a man on in the eighth to give Spahn the 197th win of his major league career.

NEAL COMES THROUGH

Meanwhile, the Dodgers moved back into second place by edging the Philadelphia Phillies 3-2, on rookie Charlie Neal's pinch-hit, two-run double in the ninth.

Sunday's American League action saw Cleveland Indians pick up a game and a half on the New York Yankees by winning a pair from Kansas City while the Yanks, particularly Mickey Mantle, continued to have their troubles with Baltimore Orioles.

Indians mathematically eliminated the As from the pennant race by winning, 5-2 and 2-1, behind good pitching by Bob Lemon, who also won the 197th game of his major league career, and Mike Garcia.

Orioles edged the Yanks, 3-2, with Mantle hitless for the fourth straight game and 0 for 16 in the stretch. Although still seven games ahead of Babe Ruth's record pace, Mantle hasn't hit a home run in the last six games and has only 36 games left for the 19 home runs he needs to beat Ruth's high of 60.

Sunday also saw Boston Red Sox' faint hopes all but shattered beyond repair as Washington Senators won a doubleheader, their 12th and 13th victories in 17 games against the Bosox.

Speaking Briefly

Joe Adcock on Warpath Again But Tebbetts Refuses To Run

Cincinnati manager Birdie Tebbetts, who refused to run from an angry Joe Adcock, said Monday that the Milwaukee first baseman "went 'way up in my estimation" because "he got mad and showed me he was ready to fight."

"Adcock is a great ball player," Tebbetts said Monday as he recounted the tussle with the husky Milwaukee infielder under the grandstand of Cincinnati's Crosley Field Saturday night. "If he didn't get mad at me I certainly wouldn't have thought very much of him."

Angered over the riding he had taken from the Cincinnati bench, the six-foot four-inch Adcock shouted something at Tebbetts, then said, "Let me at him." Tebbetts, who is 16 years older than Adcock, said: "Let him come. No one is going to run away from him around here."

The Cincinnati manager was referring to an earlier incident when Adcock charged pitcher Ruben Gomez of the Giants and Gomez ran from the mound with Adcock in hot pursuit.

Tebbetts added that "It's been a long time since I have beaten anybody in a fight but never have I run away from one and I wasn't going to start then."

Melrose Ties Oilers; Briscoe in No-Hitter

Ole Johnson smashed a three-run pinch-hit homer in the sixth inning at Heywood Avenue park last night as Melrose Service battled to a 6-6 tie with Re-Refined Oil in the third game of a scheduled best-of-three Senior "B" Men's Softball League semi-final series.

The game was called at the end of eight innings because of darkness. Deciding game of the series will be played at Heywood Avenue park tonight with the winner to meet Brodie's Bakery in a best-of-five league final. Brodie's qualified for the final with a 5-4 win over Mary's Coffee Bar Sunday night.

Sunday afternoon, Melrose tied the semi-final at a game apiece by defeating the Oilers, 17-0, as Dawson Briscoe pitched the first no-hit, no-run game in the history of the league.

Briscoe is expected to start tonight's game for the Service-men.

United Tackles Hales For Top Spot Tonight

Victoria United and Vancouver Halecos tangle in a Pacific Coast Soccer League match at Vancouver's Callister park tonight, and the winner will take over first place in the second-half standings.

United, Halecos and North Shore Airoes are locked in a three-way tie for second place, one point behind New Westminster Royals. Tonight's game will be the first league fixture since Aug. 4 when the Royals took over first place with a 7-1 victory over North Shore.

Coach Willie Hamilton, who has missed several games while on holidays, will be back at his usual left half position for United tonight as the city club makes a bid to move into first place for the second time this season.

Archie McMillan will start in the Victoria nets with Jack Robbins at right back in place of the injured Bill Hope, and Joe Robbins at left back.

Dave Guthrie will centre for Harold Holroyd on the right side and Hamilton at left half while Harry Carruthers will pivot the forward line of Ced Robb and Cec Harrison on the right side and Ken Hibbert and Timmy Walker on the left.

Carruthers is taking over from Tommy Druce, who will be playing for Victoria Shamrocks in the Inter-City Lacrosse League playoffs at Vancouver tonight.

Next home game for United will be Monday night at Royal Athletic park when the city club meets North Shore Airoes in the opening game of the annual Dominion Cup competition. Winner will meet St. Andrews in Vancouver Aug. 30.

In the other half of the competition, Vancouver Pilseners take on the Royals Aug. 28 and the winner will meet Halecos at Vancouver Aug. 29. Halecos and St. Andrews have drawn byes into the semi-finals.

Tennis Draw

Draw for tonight's play in the annual Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club's net handicap tournament at the Fort street courts follows:

Shamrocks at Full Strength Against Pilseners Tonight

Victoria Shamrocks, defending Canadian lacrosse champions who wound up no better than third in the four-team inter-city league, will floor their strongest line-up of the season at Vancouver tonight when they clash with Pilseners in the first game of a best-of-five semi-final series.

Returning to the lineup tonight will be Al Gill and Pee Wee Bradshaw, a pair of hustling forwards who have picked up their share of points this season. Gill scored 40 goals in 22 games but missed the last eight games because of a leg injury while Bradshaw missed 10 games because of injury.

Coach Whitey Severson said last night that Gill "looked sharp" in a workout Sunday morning and felt that the scrappy forward's injury was fully healed. Severson also expressed optimism over the semi-final series and said that "I think we'll take them."

There was little to choose between the clubs in regular season play. Shamrocks won five of 10 decisions with one game tied but both clubs showed their strongest on their home floors. The Island club won four of five games at Memorial arena while Pils took three decisions, tied one and lost the final meeting at Vancouver.

Geordie Johnston will be in goal for the Rocks with Jackie Thompson and Bill Bamford, and Lew Landess and Al Davies as his defence pairings.

Pradshaw will work on a line with Larry Booth and Gill; Severson, Archie Browning and Bert Bertioa, the club's top sniper with 43 goals, will form the second line while Jackie Northup, Ed Howalyk and Harry Irwin will see action on the third line.

DRUCE TO PLAY

Tommy Druce will be utility but Severson said last night that the rugged defenceman-forward will see plenty of action, particularly if the going gets rough.

Jake Proctor's Pilseners, who got away to a poor start, have been rough on the opposition in the second half of the schedule. Stan Josephs has been particularly brilliant in goal and Bill Barbour has been their top sniper with 50 goals in his rookie season.

The clubs return to Memorial arena Wednesday night for the second game. Third game will be at Vancouver next Friday night.

But Soviet Veterans Lack KO Punch

Russia's 'Amateur' Boxers Favored in Olympics

MOSCOW (AP) — Russia's Olympic boxing team stacks up as a bunch of old pappy guys wise to the ways of the ring, compared to the amateurs they will meet from the rest of the world in Melbourne this fall.

The 10-man Soviet team averages more than 23 years of age, with an average of 124 fights behind them.

They are amateurs in Russia's book but they have the experience of young professionals in the U.S. and will be the favorites in the Olympics.

About the only thing the squad lacks is a knockout punch, which isn't too familiar a weapon in amateur ranks anywhere.

In the final eliminations at the Soviet spartakiad the only thing close to a knockout was a technical knockout by flyweight Vladimir Stolnikev. He's 22 and has won 114 of his 122 bouts.

The heavyweight is 28-year-old Algardy Shotsikas, a 202-pounder who has 129 bouts to his 10-year record, winning 118. He twice has been European champ.

R. Murauskas is the light-heavy on the Russian squad. He's 22 and has won 109 of his 124 bouts.

Perhaps the best of the lot is middleweight Gennardi Shatkov, last year's European titleholder. He's won 119 of 128 fights.

The youngster of the squad is Anatoly Karamyslovs. He's a 21-year-old light-middleweight with only 78 bouts. He's won 66.

First 'Button' Salmon Wins for Herb Tate In Main Derby Fishoff

Herb Tate, 886 Hotham, picked the right time to catch his first button-sized salmon in Saanich inlet. He caught it at 8 Sunday morning and it won him two trophies, a silver button, a $25 scrip, and $500 in cash as well as a reputation.

Tate's salmon weighed 33 pounds, seven ounces and it was the largest, by more than 11 pounds, caught in the main fish-off in the annual Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association ladder derby.

He made his catch about 100 yards from Goldstream Island while fishing with a strip-teaser. He was using two pounds of weight.

LARGEST OF DERBY

Tate won first fish-off prize of $500, more than enough to buy the shotgun he had hoped to claim if he caught a salmon large enough to get him in the prizes. He also won the Woodward's Trophy for the largest salmon caught in the fish-off and the Household Finance Trophy and a $25 scrip from the donor for being the largest salmon caught during the 10-week qualifying period and fish-off.

Bill Hewton, who qualified in the last day of the qualifying period, edged out Bob Redgrave for second place, 22 pounds to 21¾ pounds. Both caught their salmon on strip-teasers. Hewton selected a 14-foot clinker-built inboard as his prize while Redgrave picked an outboard motor.

C. W. Renfrew took home an electric sewing machine for being fourth with a 17-pound two-ounce salmon. The shotgun was claimed by George Edgington, fifth at 13.1. Bill Renfrew (11.04) won a vacuum cleaner; Sam Soong (11.1) won a power lawn mower; G. Miners (10.10) won a mahogany coffee table and Marcel Boutin (10.6) won an electric food mixer.

HIDDEN-WEIGHT WINNERS

C. J. Ross, B. Barr and H. W. Peterson won hidden-weight prizes of $25; J. Waddell won a hidden-weight prize of an electric frying pan; H. Lee won a hidden-weight prize of an electric food mixer, and H. Talbot won a hidden-weight prize of a Peetz recording reel.

Frank Lohman, 78, won a special prize for being the oldest entrant at the prize presentation and H. G. Ingram won a salt-water spinning reel for weighing in the largest coho, an eight-pounder.

Approximately 435 of the 500 plus anglers who qualified for the fish-off took part in the fish-off. About 150 salmon were weighed in.

SHARE MEDAL HONORS

Mrs. H. Johnston and Miss E. Bazan tied for low net honors in the Gorge Vale Golf Club's monthly medal competition Sunday by firing 77s.

Win Third Straight B.C. Crown

Hotelmen Seek Western Canada Title

Gorge Hotel, with its third straight B.C. championship added to an already impressive record, leaves Friday for Calgary in an attempt to bring the western Canada senior "A" men's softball championship to Victoria.

Joe Bryant's Hotelmen won the B.C. title Sunday night at Vancouver when they defeated Castlegar Cubs, 12-7, for their fourth straight victory in the five-team round robin provincial championships.

They will play the Alberta representative in a best-of-three series in Calgary next Monday and Tuesday and the winner will meet the Saskatchewan champions. The winner in Saskatchewan will go on to Winnipeg to play the Manitoba champs for the western Canada crown on the Labor Day weekend.

Bryant has also announced that the Hotelmen will accept an invitation to compete in the men's world softball series, September 17, if finances permit.

The Gorge squad had a fairly easy time of it in collecting their third provincial tittle at South Memorial park Sunday. Bryant's club smashed 16 hits off four pitchers.

Fred Horcoff, who just 30 minutes earlier had finished pitching a no-hitter against New Westminster Royals for a 6-0 victory to put the Cubs in the final, was given the task of stopping Gorge but he wasn't up to the task. The Hotelmen teed off on Horcoff and two other pitchers in the second inning for seven runs after Castlegar had scored twice in the first frame.

Ed Foychuck, top pitcher for Gorge with 14 wins against one loss, started Sunday's game and gave up three runs in the four innings he pitched. Fireballing Barry Jackson took over in the fifth and finished the game.

Stan "Bones" Stewart, one of the Hotelmen's heaviest hitters in the B.C. playdowns, continued his streak Sunday with three singles. Big Ab Wiebe, the righthander who was barred from pitching because of an illegal delivery Saturday night, turned to catching Sunday and poled a tremendous home run out of the park.

England has won two matches of the current five game series. Australia has won one and one has been drawn.

England's team: Peter May (captain), Trevor Bailey, Colin Cowdrey, Compton, Godfrey Evans, Jim Laker, Tony Lock, Peter Richardson, David Sheppard, Statham, Frank Tyson and Cyril Washbrook.

Polyettes Lose in B.C. Title Bid

Victoria Polyettes collected only three hits in two games off southpaw Barbara Gibson Sunday as they dropped a pair of 8-0 decisions at Vancouver and lost the best-of-three senior "A" women's softball final to Vancouver Crowhursts, 2-1.

John Oster's Polyettes, seeking the provincial title in their first season of senior "A" competition, took the opening game of the series 3-1 on Saturday. But they were handcuffed neatly by the fast-throwing Miss Gibson.

The Vancouver southpaw took the hill in the first game and gave up only one hit—a fourth-inning single by Lee Crothers. Crowhursts picked up 11 hits off Victoria starter Ruth Oster and Jocelyn Richmond, who pitched in relief from the third inning.

Miss Gibson came right back in the deciding game and pitched brilliantly, yielding singles to Monica McKenzie and Flo Pickering. Miss Richmond pitched a six-hitter in a losing cause but Polyettes were sloppy afield, committing seven errors.

Crowhursts decided not to compete in the women's world softball championships at Clearwater, Florida, but will instead contest the western Canada championships.

Polyettes have tentatively scheduled a three-game series against a Seattle team for the Labor Day weekend in Victoria.

Sunday's linescores:

Flag Problem Yours Ottawa Tells Indians

British Columbia Indians will have to settle their own dispute over adoption of a native "national" flag.

Indian affairs branch of the citizenship department in Ottawa announced it will not enter into the argument.

Chief Percy Ross of the Songhees Indian reserve here objected to the suggested emblem because it is "cheap" and isn't Indian in design.

The flag was adopted by Chief Frank Assu of Cape Mudge and bands of northern Indians meeting on Quadra Island last month.

The design was a green-red diagonal with an embossed golden maple leaf.

Chief Ross said he suspected a "white organization" campaigning for a Canadian national flag helped design the Indian flag.

He said no Indian would have chosen the colors red and green or the maple leaf, and added that Indian colors are red, black and brown and chief symbols are Thunderbird, beaver or wolf.

New Colonist Series — Pierces City Smokescreen

Ill Wind Unites Anti-Smuts Forces

Smoke from Victoria Paving Ltd. plant, on city Bridge street property, decorates the morning sky. —(Colonist photo by Bud Kinsman.)

By R. O. MARRION
Colonist City Hall Reporter

For almost two weeks recently, an unusual morning current of air carried smoke lazily southward over Victoria's downtown shopping district. Cinders dropped in the streets and swirled through open doorways and windows.

Government street merchants, viewing their spotted wares, began to complain.

Workmen of a large downtown firm put the finishing touches on an exceedingly expensive upholstering job, left a window open, and returned the next morning to find their work covered with cinders. They tried to vacuum it, but the smuts smudged. At the firm's expense, the whole job had to be done over again.

Residents and business men of the north end of town, hearing the wails from the shopping district, grinned grimly and hoped mischievously that the wind would keep blowing southward.

For them, the unusual current of air meant respite from almost constant trouble. It meant, too, that new allies might be found downtown in the long, slow, sometimes apparently hopeless fight against smoke and cinders.

The fight has been in progress for years, and an acceptable victory would already have been won, many north-end people believe, if a weapon forged five years ago by city council had been wielded instead of dangled.

The weapon is the city's smoke by-law—"a by-law to regulate the production and emission of smoke and solid matter from chimneys and smokestacks and to regulate the construction, repair and use of fuel-burning equipment."

It is directly in the hands of a part-time city smoke inspector, although city council or council's public works committee could, if it would, tell him what he must do with it.

The smoke inspector, Thomas Walker, has been called to appear soon before the Victoria-Esquimalt Union Board of Health to report on the progress of smoke-and-cinder abatement. At that time, he will answer this implied indictment: that he has used the weapon too little and too slowly, and not as a keen-edged sword but as a small stick that no one fears much.

This article is the first in a short series presented by The Daily Colonist to review the situation as fairly as it can be seen with a cinder in one eye, taking into account both sides of the question—because it does have two sides, both with arguments that deserve the consideration of every citizen.

As a first token of fairness, it must be conceded that the situation has improved in the past year.

Last year the Colonist had a hard time finding anyone in "Cinder Alley," the main smoke channel northeast of the mill area, who could see that there had been any improvement. This year, most of the people questioned granted that the smoke was less bothersome and the cinders fewer. Some even said joyfully that they weren't troubled any more.

North-end residents are cheered by the improvement, but not content with it. Some of them attribute the improvement far less to the by-law and the work of the smoke inspector than to the changing times.

They point to the increasing desire of some smoke-producing firms for good public relations, the decreasing activity of one or two mills because of the growing difficulty of obtaining adequate supplies of logs economically, and the increasing value and scarcity of wood waste, a cinder-producing fuel that is well on its way to becoming too rare and expensive to burn.

(In the next article, the Colonist will look back over the attempts of the last five years to clear Victoria's skies.)

Party Unity Seen

British Columbia Liberal and CCF parties can be expected to converge automatically, according to Works Minister W. N. Chant.

In a campaign speech to a Social Credit meeting last night, Mr. Chant said the Liberals have imitated the CCF and have the same economic concepts. He said he will not be surprised when the two parties start working together.

"When William Campbell Moore made suggestions in Comox last week that the Liberals and CCF work together to defeat the Socreds, he did not just blurt out his statements, although the proposition has now been officially denied," Mr. Chant said.

In speaking of Socred accomplishments, Mr. Chant said the building of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway was a "calculated risk."

"Social Credit has taken many calculated risks and will continue to do so if given public support," he said.

Mrs. Lydia Arsens, second speaker at the meeting, said the Liberal's plan to cut the hospital tax (5 percent sales tax) was "just asking" that planned support of hospitals be upset.

She said the Socreds were expecting the ammunition to start flying from the opposition.

FALSE STATEMENTS

"But we can expect false statements. We don't have to stoop—we will keep our campaign clean," she said.

"Social Credit is used to constant battering," Mrs. Arsens pointed out.

Ald. Don Smith, third Victoria candidate for the Sept. 19 provincial election, was the only one of the trio who did not make a definite campaign speech.

He announced that Archie Brown had been chosen campaign manager for all three candidates.

Ald. Smith expects heavy campaigning to start within 10 days.

Social Credit headquarters will be on the ground floor at 747 Yates, he announced.

Today's Last Chance To Get on Voters' List

Today is the last chance to register as a voter in the Sept. 19 provincial election.

It is expected that thousands of eligible voters in the Greater Victoria area will be disfranchised because they have not registered before the midnight deadline.

The Daily Colonist learned from unofficial sources last night that only about 3,000 persons in Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich have registered since Premier Bennett announced the election last Monday.

At that time it was estimated that at least 10,000 and possibly 20,000 eligible voters in the four Greater Victoria ridings were not on the electoral rolls.

SNOWED UNDER

Since then registration stations scattered throughout the area have been snowed under by persons wishing to register.

Registrar of voters W. H. Ryan refused to say how many persons had registered during the past week. But, informed sources said, the figure is not above 5,000.

WILL STAY OPEN LATE

Head office of the registrar of voters at 910 Gordon street will remain open late tonight. Registration forms mailed before midnight will be accepted.

Other registration stations will be open today for as long as the regular hours of the stores in which they are situated. A complete list of the registration stations in the area is given below.

Oak Bay Names Oliver To Carry Socred Banner

Promising a "clean and above-board campaign," 41-year-old Kenneth Oliver was chosen last night as Social Credit opponent to Oak Bay Liberal MLA P. A. Gibb in the Sept. 19 provincial election.

KENNETH OLIVER

Mr. Oliver was picked by 129 delegates at a meeting in St. Mary's hall, Yates street, over four other nominees. Voting went to a third ballot before the winner obtained a majority.

Mr. Oliver, father of four boys and three girls, has been president of the Oak Bay Social Credit constituency association. He is owner of Midland Construction company.

OLD SUPPORTER

A Social Credit supporter since 1935, when he joined in his native Taber, Alta., Mr. Oliver's only previous try for public office was unsuccessful—for Oak Bay council last year.

Other candidates were city prosecutor Alan Bigelow, tally-ho director Arthur Knapp, Sidney publisher C. T. Overman and former mayor Claude Harrison. Lawyer Kenneth Murphy declined nomination.

Mr Harrison was eliminated on the first ballot, Mr. Overman on the second.

AID FOR AGED

In his nominating address, Mr. Oliver said old age, disabled and blind persons "need attention just as much as any four-lane highway from Vancouver to Blaine.

"With careful planning and good business-like operation of our government, a certain amount of money can be saved and I'm sure we can do a lot more for the poor people," he said.

H. J. Bruch, MLA, and Social Credit candidate in Esquimalt, was chairman of the nominating convention.

Tenders Deadline For Span Extended

Five companies, one possibly interested only in a sub-contract, have taken out plans and specifications for the new Point Ellice bridge with a view to bidding on steel construction, City Engineer James Garnett said yesterday.

Deadline for tenders has been extended from Aug. 27, the original date, to 2 p.m. daylight saving time, Sept. 5.

Mr. Garnett will present to city council's public works committee today details of negotiations on repair of the faulty piers of the present bridge, which will carry the new structure.

Esquimalt Delays Merger Decision

Esquimalt council will refrain from taking a stand for or against amalgamation of Greater Victoria until the special committee summoned by Mayor Percy Scurrah completes its studies.

This was the decision of council at a special public meeting held last night to consider Reeve A. C. Wurtele's report on the recent recommendations of the Citizens' Research Council.

It was the first time a council in this area has met specially to discuss the report.

In a key paragraph the reeve commented: "I believe the Greater Victoria area will be better served by allowing Esquimalt to run its own affairs, apart from those already amalgamated."

All councillors except Coun. G. K. Sammon have indicated that they oppose amalgamation, but it was decided not to make a policy statement for the time being.

The reeve, who with Councillor Argyle represent Esquimalt on the committee, said the group must discuss total amalgamation, a two-tier form of government, partial amalgamation or no change.

It should study the effect of amalgamation on finances and efficiency but should not make a flat recommendation.

"Esquimalt existed as a settlement even before Victoria . . . and there has grown up a fine community spirit," said the reeve. "If Esquimalt is to be incorporated into the Greater Victoria area, this community spirit will be lost due to the identity of Esquimalt being lost."

Reeve Wurtele said "the main source of revenue for Greater Victoria comes from the dockyard, navy and Yarrows in Esquimalt. The revenue from tourists is 'peanuts' compared [illegible] or more from HMC ships and waterfront industry," he added.

At some later date, amalgamation of police and fire departments might be necessary.

"Esquimalt council is against any form of annexation," he said. "Esquimalt cannot be said to be riding on the back of Victoria. In my opinion sufficient argument has not been put forward to warrant such a step as amalgamation."

Correction Made

DUNCAN—Advice given a Social Credit nominating convention here Friday night that voters could be sworn in on election day and be allowed to cast their ballot, even though they had not registered, was contradicted by Gen. G. R. Bradbrooke, returning officer for Cowichan-Newcastle.

"It is true that voters can be sworn in and allowed to vote," Gen. Bradbrooke said, "but in this case their ballot is placed in an envelope and returned to me. If they have not been properly registered somewhere in the province, their vote is thrown out.

"The provision for swearing in in the election," General Bradbrooke said, "is to take care of cases where persons are insistent that their names should be on the voters' list. They are sworn in, allowed to vote and then it is my job to ascertain if their vote should be allowed."

Palate-Tickling Trip

The Good Ship Sudbury Stows Lashings of Food

It is now clear why sailors sail.

It's the food. At least that's the attraction for the merchant seamen of Island Tug and Barge Co., who leave on a 45-day, 9,000-mile return trip to Japan this week.

A giant list of foods that would make a gourmand's eyes (and suspenders) pop has been ordered by company purchasing agent Les Clarke for the 19 men of the famed tug Sudbury, which will tow a barge laden with scrap iron to Japan.

There's enough food to last 50 to 60 days, providing a "margin of safety" for the well-fed crewmen.

Cook John Hall will have a larder to work with that will include 150 pounds of sirloin tips, 160 pounds of pork roasts, 10 turkeys and 18 chickens, six loins of pork and two of beef, two hips of veal and legs of beef, 60 pounds of corned beef and 80 of hamburger.

There will be 700 pounds of potatoes, 100 pounds each of cauliflower, cabbage, carrots and what-have-you and cases of canned goods, fruits and fruit juices. Seventy-two pounds of coffee and just 12 of tea indicate the preferences of the men have been well studied.

There'll even be an extra large amount of cigarets stocked, Donald Elworthy, of Island Tug and Barge, said.

Jellies Capture Fruit Sweetness

Jellies capture the sweetness of fruits and berries in the purest possible form. But you may ask how do you make a perfect jelly, clear, sparkling, just firm enough to hold its shape, just yielding enough to cut tenderly with a spoon? [illegible] Canada Department of Agriculture here are some of the answers.

They say that to make a perfect jelly pectin, fruit and sugar and water must be in the right proportions. Fruits vary in the amounts of pectin and acid they contain. Those rich in both pectin and acid are crab apples, sour apples, cranberries, currants, gooseberries, sour plums and grapes; those rich in pectin but low in acid are quinces and sweet apples; those rich in acid but low in pectin are strawberries, cherries, rhubarb, [illegible] raspberries and loganberries. Fruits low in both pectin and acid are peaches, pears and blueberries. If a fruit is low in either pectin or acid it may be combined with one or more fruits rich in the needed pectin or acid.

Pectin and acid change with the maturity of the fruit, both decreasing as the fruit ripens. It is best, therefore, to use a mixture of slightly under-ripe and ripe fruit, and over-ripe fruit should never be used for making jelly.

Commercial pectin, both liquid and powdered, is sold and widely used for making jellies. It is most important to follow exactly the directions which come with this pectin as the proportions of pectin, fruit and sugar and water given have been thoroughly tested by the manufacturer.

STEPS IN JELLY MAKING

1. Sterilize jelly glasses or jars.

2. Select sound fruit using about equal parts of ripe and slightly under-ripe fruit. Wash thoroughly and discard any damaged spots. Prepare fruit according to directions in Table For Jellies.

3. Add cold water using proportion of water to prepared fruit in Table For Jellies. Simmer fruit and water in a covered kettle until fruit is soft and mushy, crushing during cooking.

4. Pour hot cooked fruit into a moistened jelly bag made of several thicknesses of fine cheesecloth or muslin. Hang up over a bowl and allow to drain until dripping ceases. Squeezing the bag increases the quantity of juice, but the jelly will not be so clear.

5. Work with small amounts of "extracted" juice at a time—not more than 3 cups. Measure each lot of juice accurately to determine the amount of sugar to be added after boiling.

6. Boil juice, uncovered, in a broad saucepan for 3 minutes. Remove saucepan from heat and test for pectin. To make test, measure 1 teaspoon fruit juice and 1 teaspoon rubbing alcohol into a cup or small dish. Blend quickly together and let stand 30 seconds. If a jelly like mass or clot is formed the juice contains sufficient pectin and sugar may be added. If heavy clot does not form continue boiling, testing frequently, until pectin test is satisfactory. Do not taste this mixture as rubbing alcohol is poisonous.

7. Measure sugar, allowing 1 cup of sugar for each cup of extracted juice. If a heavy solid clot forms when pectin test is made at end of 3 minute boiling period. If a heavy clot does not form and boiling of juice must be continued, allow ¾ cup sugar for each cup of extracted juice.

8. Add measured sugar slowly to hot juice. Boil briskly uncovered, removing scum as it forms.

9. To test when jelly is done dip up the boiling hot syrup with a metal spoon holding well above kettle and allow to run off the side. When the syrup no longer runs off the spoon in a steady stream but separates into two distinct lines of drops which finally flow or "sheet" together the jelly stage has been reached. Immediately remove from the heat.

10. Let hot juice stand in kettle for about 1 minute and remove last bit of scum with a cold fork or spoon.

11. Carefully pour into hot sterilized jelly glasses leaving at least ½ inch space at top. To ensure a perfect seal and to prevent "weeping" or oozing of liquid after paraffin is added care must be taken to avoid any drbbing of jelly on inside of glass above jelly level.

12. Let stand until partially set, then pour a thin layer of hot melted paraffin to completely cover the jelly and leave until hardened. Then add a second layer of melted wax, rotating the jar so that it will adhere to the glass to form a close seal. Cover and store in a cool, dry place.

Mother Returns To Work After Night Delivery

TITUSVILLE, Fla. (UP) — Mrs. Ellerbe W. Carter sipped several highballs, then delivered her seventh child unassisted at 1:20 o'clock this morning.

At 9 a.m. she was back at work in her husband's real estate office with her six pound son at her side.

The birth took place while her three-year-old son and infant daughter slept in a bed a few feet away.

"It's the way nature intended babies to be born," explained Mrs. Carter, an attractive housewife in her early 40s.

"And it's a wonderful experience."

The slim, brown-haired woman is a strong believer in natural childbirth and has written a book and several articles on it.

"It's easy if you don't let yourself gain too much weight and the whisky helps you relax," she added.

Mrs. Carter said she allows herself to gain only five pounds during pregnancy.

Her husband, a 72-year-old retired army general from Louisville, Ky., beamed proudly after being awakened and told the news.

"[illegible] usual thing for a man my age to be a father," he said. Carter is husky, grey haired and very active.

This was the ninth child for the couple. The first two were born in a hospital and the rest Mrs. Carter had at home unassisted.

Mrs. Carter said she would name the baby William Douglas.

She said she took the infant to the office this morning because "it's better to have him with me so I can give him better car."

"Besides if I left him at home the kids would probably maul him."

Saris Not Suited To Canadian Life

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — A dark-haired, dark-eyed woman who arrived in Canada a month ago with a wardrobe of saris intends to switch to "very smart Western styles" as soon as possible.

Mrs. Exalt Joe Pinto of Bombay, whose husband is an engineer at the General Motors Corporation plant here, says she is enthralled by Western styles.

"You need a good figure to wear them but I'm not too fat and I'm not too thin," she said in an interview. The lovely young mother of two children who stands five feet six inches would like to dispose of her saris now but says that would be too hard on her husband's pocketbook.

She has however, acquired several cotton dresses for house work and she fits Christopher, 7 and Gloria, 6, in Canadian dress.

While saris are worn by all housewives in India some, as had Mrs. Pinto, have servants to do their work. The saris are not suitable for the work a Canadian housewife is expected to do, she said.

Mrs. Pinto said that in India fashions change just as they do here. Every few years the cut of the sari's blouse changes, sometimes style calls for short sleeves, elbow length sleeves or none at all.

Materials, cotton, nylon, chiffon, georgette and silk — alternate in popularity. Mills change the designs in the materials.

Mrs. Pinto said she isn't worried about wearing saris here that may have gone out of style in India. To most Westerners saris look alike, and as hers wear out she will replace them with Canadian styles.

Mr. Pinto, with the auto firm since 1940, transferred here at his own request because, he said, Canada is the most outstanding Christian country in the world.

LONG CHRISTIAN

Born in the Portuguese colony of Goa, Mr. and Mrs. Pinto said their families have been Christian for generations and that they want to settle in a Christian country.

A world traveller of quite an extent, Mr. Pinto, who started as a bench fitter and worked up to acting chief inspector and supervisor for Karachi, studied in the United States on a company scholarship. From his base in Flint, Mich., he scouted Canada and the U.S. but found life there too hectic.

"Oshawa is a fast-growing beautiful city of friendly people," he said.

Mrs. Pinto is especially delighted with the super-markets.

"At home it took a couple of hours to prepare a meal," she said. "Here it takes less than half an hour everything is ready for serving."

India and Pakistan, where they also lived for three years, are not as backward as some think, the Pintos said.

"Few realize how rapidly the countries' industrial towns are growing," Mr. Pinto said. "The caste system is definitely on the decline and will fade out. With so much reconstruction people just haven't time to bother with petty things."

Fur Bargain Real Rarity

OTTAWA (CP) — Hot weather and fur sales appear to go hand-in-hand in August.

But beware of the "bargain" slogan when shopping for furs, says the Canadian Association of Consumers in its summer bulletin.

Be suspicious of drastically reduced prices," says the watch dog of the women shopper. Real bargains in furs are rare because of the cost of skins and workmanship.

However, if the yen for furs overcomes the swelter of summer sun, the CAC has some suggestions for women shopping for authentic or synthetic furs or fur trimmed garments.

Starting with the realization that a fur coat constitutes a major part of any clothing budget, the CAC suggests that in wise choice considers the garment's purpose, whether the garment is for evening, every day or occasional wear as well as style, serviceability and price.

Now, for the actual hunt. By law, all fur garments must be labelled with the true name of the animal whose pelt is used even if a trade name is used as well.

A smooth, lustrous appearance, uniform color and texture, pliable skins and thick, glossy, long guardhairs indicate good quality in a wild animal fur, says the CAC. In furs from sheared animals, lamb for instance, tight curls or natural patterns are quality indications.

On the other hand, poor quality is indicated by dull, lifeless color, thin, uneven fur, brittle or split hairs and stiff, "rattling" skins.

The CAC suggests that the buyer check for a generous fit around the shoulders and arms and a good overlap in the front as well as for a strong durable lining which will support the weight of the coat.

In synthetic furs, which have been developed to combine style with warmth and light weight as well as a lower cost, the consumer organization's main suggestion is to have these garments carefully cleaned. These fur-like fabrics should never be put in contact with [illegible] steam.

Fur-lined garments should be checked to make sure the fur won't shed onto the dress worn beneath it. And in both fur-lined or trimmed garments, it is often worthwhile to buy garments which have detachable furs, for cleaning purposes.

"How popular is contract bridge? How good is the average game?" That the correct one-word answer to both questions is "very" was demonstrated recently when the weather made somewhat damper than usual the annual outing of the "50 Club" at Pine Hollow Country Club on Long Island. This was one occasion when even these members of the liquor industry might have voted for a dry program but with golf and tennis rained out, many of them turned to bridge.

With 17 points in a balanced hand facing an opening one no trump bid, North knew that his side had not less than 33 points and that the combined hands were precisely in the small slam range. His jump to six gave Al Pianeo a chance to demonstrate good playing technique with the South hand.

The ten of clubs was opened and when dummy came down South could count eleven tricks. The most obvious place to find the twelfth was by setting up the thirteenth heart but South did not make the mistake of staking everything on a three-three break by cashing the ace and king and leading a low one. As the cards were distributed, this would have resulted in immediate defeat for East could cash two heart tricks.

Instead, after winning the club in dummy, only the high heart was cashed and then the low one was led. East came up with the queen to drop West's jack but his return was one by the jack. A heart continuation conceded all dummy's remaining high cards and revealed to declarer that the suit would not break.

However when declarer cashed his tricks in the black suits he got a pleasant dividend on his good technique. East had his side's only stoppers in the red suits. He couldn't make two discards without giving up the high heart or throwing away two diamonds. When he did that, declarer cashed the ace and king of diamonds and made the slam-producing trick with dummy's diamond nine.

WINNING POINTS:
When you must give up a trick to establish another prefer to surrender the trick while you retain a topcard control in the suit.

Husband Nails Newsman When Diana Dors Dunked

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — British actress Diana Dors and a United Press photographer emerged yesterday as the bruised principals of what probably will go down in Hollywood swimming pool history as the most celebrated dunking in years.

Miss Dors and three others landed in the swimming pool of her Beverly Hills home last night while photographer Stewart Sawyer landed on his [illegible] by the star's husband, Dennis Hamilton, former professional boxer.

Hamilton accused Sawyer of pushing his wife into the pool "to get an exclusive picture." Sawyer denied the charge declaring he was standing some distance away talking to actor Guy Madison when Hamilton rushed him. He was unconscious when rescued.

Under California law an attack by a professional pugilist whether engaged in boxing at the time or not constitutes grounds for charges of assault with a deadly weapon.

Miss Dors and her husband both underwent X-ray examinations at the office of their physician yesterday. The British actress was found to be suffering from a sprained back while Hamilton had a fractured foot.

Sawyer suffered a possible broken nose and numerous bruises and lacerations on his head. Sawyer said through his wife that his only plans were "to get some rest and see his doctor."

Miss Dors reported she was [illegible] She said she struck the steps of the pool before hitting the water.

Both Miss Dors and Hamilton declared they were sorry the incident took place but they were positive Sawyer pushed the group standing at the edge of the pool.

"If he (Sawyer) chooses to forget about it," Hamilton said, "I shall forget it. I'm just terribly sorry it happened. If he would like to ring me first and apologize, I most certainly will apologize to him."

Sawyer however was just as emphatic in denying that he pushed the actress, Hamilton, agent Louis Shurr and wardrobe designer Harry Shoup into the pool.

"I did not push them into the pool nor do I remember anything except both Miss Dors and her husband attacking me," he said. [illegible] "I was standing by [illegible] talking to Guy Madison [illegible] all of a sudden I was knocked down."

Ottawa Doubles Pay of Aircrews

OTTAWA (CP)—In a move to attract more high-calibre aircrew, the defence department has more than doubled the flying pay for Canada's military fliers.

An air force spokesman Monday estimated the raises will cost between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 a year.

The new rates, retroactive to July 1, boost the former flat $30 a month to a graduated scale beginning at $75 monthly and rising to a top of $150 for active-duty aircrew.

Qualified aircrew on staff duties who maintain their flying proficiency have also been given raises but not quite so high as for full-time fliers. They run to about $100 monthly.

The raises apply to fliers in the reserve forces as well as members of the regular forces, but the rates are scaled down slightly. Top for an auxiliary flyer is about $125, the spokesman estimated.

City Cafe Sale Set To End Disagreement of Owners

The Poodle Dog cafe, 1241 Government, will be put up for sale following an agreement reached between co-owners Mrs. Harold L. Johnston and Henry R. Barnett in Victoria Supreme Court.

Under the terms of the agreement the business will be sold "as a going concern" some time this fall with both parties at liberty to buy it.

Agreement followed almost two days of litigation before Mr. Justice Henry Sullivan on the petition of Mrs. Johnston who asked for a court order for appointment of a liquidator to wind up business of the cafe. She spoke of "complete disagreement" between the co-owners.

In a surprise move, Mr. Barnett said his earlier offer of settlement was still open and agreement to sell was announced following a conference of counsel, John G. McIntosh for Mr. Barnett and Arthur J. Burns for Mrs. Johnston.

Full Honors To Be Given RCN Veteran

Full military honors will be provided at the funeral for John A. Carter Costin at Esquimalt Friday.

A chief petty officer aboard HMCS Magnificent, he died Friday in Halifax. He was 39.

Born in Winnipeg, CPO Costin joined the navy in 1949 and served overseas during World War Two and for two terms in Korea.

He had served aboard HMCS Ontario, Athabaskan, Sioux and several other ships.

He is survived by his wife Ruby and a son John Wayne, Victoria, his father and three sisters in Winnipeg and a brother Harold with the RCAF in Edmonton.

Rev. F. H. Godfrey, RCN, will officiate at the service in the naval cemetery chapel at 10.30 a.m. Burial will be in the naval cemetery.

TV Talk

By ROY PARRETT

It seems that our adventures at Shawnigan Lake are read with interest. Even non-TV fans have written or phoned about wasps, balky boats or house wiring.

Tony Wilson a TV man from Kent's repair department, went even farther. He brought around a light for us [illegible] leading up the cobweb path behind our cottage.

Tony had read about us losing our flashlight.

His light is proofed against such mishaps It has square sides and can't roll off a seat.

* * *

Shawnigan Lake is one of the places which should benefit from the forthcoming power increase at KVOS-TV, due before the end of the year. Many Shawnigan residents get the channel 12 station but it is shaded in some areas. The seven-fold increase should make KVOS-TV almost a "rabbit-ear" station [illegible] around the lake. Port Renfrew and isolated logging camps stand to gain, too.

* * *

Convention coverage on channels 4, 5, 11 and 12 is expected to begin at 3.30 this afternoon and end at about 7.30. Channel 2 will have GOP activities, starting at 2 o'clock.

"Stunt Men" and "Big Game" are the titles of the channel 2 films slated for 6 tonight.

The beautiful and talented Volkman sisters will be back on the "$64,000 Question," on channels 11 and 12 at 7.

"Portrait of Lydia" is the channel 2 drama, starring Donna Reid at 7.30.

Janet Blair is the star on "The Chevy Show," a variety hour slated for channel 4 at 8.

Navy Log deals with the menace of submarine warfare on channel 11 at 8.30.

A feature film, "Adventure in Washington," stars [illegible] Marshall at 9 o'clock on channel 11.

Ann Sheridan stars in the channel 4 "Sneak Preview," "Calling Terry Conway," at 9.

Popular music, in its many forms, will be heard on "Rehearsal in 'A,'" channel 2 production at 9.30.

Edward Arnold stars in "The Devil and Daniel Webster," 10.30 movie on channel 12.

A Boeing color film about the famous B47 jet bomber provides a dramatic half-hour of education and entertainment on channel 4 at 11.

A search for a missing atomic scientist provides the plot of "Rendezvous 24," channel 11 film with William Gargan, at 11.30.

Ida Lupino and Ralph Bellamy provide the laughs in "Let's Get Married," channel 5 comedy at 11.45.

A PRAIRIE MAN'S DREAM HOME
Widow sacrificing this beautiful bungalow home at price less than $9,000. Selling many hundreds of dollars below replacement costs. Here is a "DREAM" that really did come true. Several years ago this prairie man retired and came to Victoria with his wife. They purchased one of the best-built bungalows that you ever did see. Good, full concrete basement with a regular prairie man's type of good furnace with plenty of hot and cold air pipes; extra good beams, extra good joists, more concrete than usual. It is indeed a wonderful basement with lots of basement windows. Two beautiful lots developed in detail to perfection. VIEWS OF THE OLYMPIC MOUNTAINS, views of the Sooke Hills. A nice HIGH SPOT up amongst the oaks. Fish pools. Flowers galore. Lawns. Apple trees, pears, raspberries, currants, vegetables. Two lots fully landscaped with concrete walks, driveway. All of this beauty and development to perfection is a lasting monument to the fine gentleman who lived to complete and enjoy his "Dream home." Now the inside of this beautiful bungalow is just as PERFECT as the outside. Central hall plan. Two bedrooms, bathroom with everything fully modern; beautiful living room with good open fireplace. Marvelous views of the mountains from living room and kitchen windows. Electric kitchen. A delightful kitchen. This bungalow is CLEAN, clean, clean. This has been a wonderful home. The sad part is that now the widow MUST SELL QUICKLY. She is sacrificing way below the actual value. Possession in a week or less. What's your offer? Shown by appointment only. Will you please get in touch with MACK W. LYLE at his residence, 2-1084 or office 4-0308.

Widow's Sight Saved by Girl

HALIFAX, N.S. (BUP) — Doctors have removed the healthy cornea of a cancerous eye from a five-year-old girl and transplanted it to the eye of a 46-year-old widow who was going blind, it was reported yesterday.

The operation was the first of its kind performed in the Atlantic provinces.

Karen Elaine Burgess, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald K. Burgess, of Fall River, Nova Scotia, had an eye removed in children's hospital. Immediately following the removal of the eye the healthy cornea was taken to Victoria General Hospital and transplanted to the blind eye of Annie Sampson of Halifax.

The Halifax doctor who performed the operation said it was a success.

Workless Reinstated

Big Logging Dispute 'Satisfactorily Settled'

DUNCAN — A labor dispute which left 140 loggers unemployed here six weeks ago and later threw 125 sawmill workers out of work, was settled yesterday.

Tony Poje, president of Local 1-80 of the International Woodworkers of America, said a "satisfactory settlement" has been reached with Western Forest Industries.

He said maintenance workers at the firm's Gordon River camp will return to work Wednesday. Those employed on the logging operation have also been reinstated and will start work "as soon as weather conditions permit."

CLOSED IN JULY

The camp was shut down early in July when the company dismissed 140 men when they refused to work an early shift without a guarantee of eight hours' work a day.

A month later, Western Forest Industries closed its shingle mill at Honeymoon Bay, forcing 125 men out of work. The shut-down was attributed to a shortage of logs caused by the closure of the Gordon River camp.

A company official said the mill will not reopen until the summer of 1957.

HARDY PLANT

Quinoa, a cereal plant held sacred by the Inca Indians, grows well at altitudes of 13,000 feet.
